Rail Union Faces Suits By 4 Firms

Bid For Damages Announced After Four-Day Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen has been put on notice that it can expect several damage suits for its four - day strike last week.

The Illinois Central, the Union Pacific, the Missouri Pacific and its subsidiary, the Texas and Pacific, have announced that they will file suits against the union. They have not disclosed how much the suits will ask.

The firemen's union also struck the Grand Trunk Western, Central of Georgia, Seaboard Air Line, Boston & Maine and the Pennsylvania Railroads.

The railroads estimate they lost more than $30 million during the strike ended late Sunday night.

An estimated $320,000 daily was lost in wages.

The Grand Trunk railroad was hit briefly by another strike. A carrier spokesman said about 60 of the road's 100 yard switchmen in Pontiac, Mich., walked off their jobs defending day for the time spent on the picket lines in support of the firemen's work stoppage. But they returned to work a few hours later when a circuit court ordered them back.

The auto industry, dependent on rail shipment of parts, was not back to full operation. General Motors' Chevrolet and Fisher body units in Kansas City were idle. They employ a total of 4,500 workers.

GM also reported that eight other plants are in partial operation.

The Firemen's Union struck over the seven - year issue of laying off firemen on the modern diesel engines. The 8,000-man walkout put more than 200,000 workers either out of jobs or on part time duty during the four day strike.

In another development Tuesday, Judge Frank M. Scarlett of U.S. District Court in Brunswick, Ga., found two top BLF&E officials in criminal contempt for ignoring his order last week to return to work.

Judge Scarlett levied $25,000 fines on R. L. McCollum, a union vice president, and A. B. Healan, union general manager, both of Savannah, Ga. He ordered the $50,000 paid to the Central of Georgia and the Southern Railway.

Fine's Levied On Owner Of Paddock Club

Art Lewis, arrested as the owner of the Paddock Club in a raid by West Virginia State police Saturday night, was fined $150 by Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton in a hearing Tuesday.

The fine included $100 and costs for possessing gaming devices and $50 and costs for illegally possessing alcoholic beverages.

Anthony Perrotti of Wheeling, cited as the bartender, was fined $50 and costs for the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages.

Both pleaded "no contest." The hearings had originally been set for next Saturday, but were conducted earlier upon the request of the defendants.

Mrs. Josephine R. Zagula of New Cumberland, owner of the Club Daily Double, has posted $500 for a hearing before Squire Bellanco on Saturday.

The Daily Double, located on West Virginia Route 66 north of New Cumberland, was hit in Saturday's raiding operations, along with the Tally - Ho Club on Route 2, north of Weirton.

June Races Set

Three Capture Nominations In Chester Voting

The battlelines have been drawn for the June 7 general election as the result of Chester primary balloting Tuesday which saw contests decided for three Council seats.

Two incumbents and a newcomer were victors in the fight for nomination to the posts.

Only 427 had cast ballots when the polling places closed at 7 p. m.

Percy Willison of Pyramus Ave., Republican now completing his 12th term as Fifth Ward councilman, again won nomination in a close race with Harold Ash of Neptune Ave. The vote was:

Willison	59
Ash	54

Willison will face Albert A. Cronin of Lycia Ave., Democrat, in the general election. Cronin received 22 complimentary votes yesterday.

Richard Johnston of Charles St. easily lead the field of three Republicans bidding for nomination for the Second Ward seat. Facing no opposition in the June election, he is assured of a second term in Council.

He was opposed yesterday by Cyril Govey of 206 Church St. and J. Floyd Peddycord of 336 Carolina Ave. The vote was:

Johnston	72
Govey	36
Peddycord	8

The Third Ward Democratic nomination for Council was captured by Thomas Bowen Jr. of 114 Virginia Ave., seeking office for the first time. His opponent was Glen Logston of 315 Adolphus St. The vote was:

Bowen	24
Logston	11

Bowen also will be unopposed in June.

The two mayoral candidates, Burton G. Ward, 47, of 851 Phoenix Ave., Republican, and Alvin B. Clutter, 43, of 544 River Dr., Democrat, were unopposed yesterday.

Mayor Harry Abrams, Republican incumbent, did not seek a new term.

Yesterday's vote was broken down as follows:

First Ward, 37; Second Ward, 142; Third Ward, 56; Fourth Ward, 56, and Fifth Ward, 141.

Violence Erupts At Dixie College

LORMAN, Miss. (AP) — A shield of National Guardsmen and state troopers defended the gates today at Alcorn A&M College, where tear gas clouds choked 2,000 angry demonstrators into retreat during the night.

Student protests seeking to depose Alcorn President J. D. Boyd boiled into violence again Tuesday night when patrolmen tried to clear a highway leading onto the campus.

Carbines at the ready, the patrolmen stepped into the mass of Negroes when a demonstrator shoved a trooper and reached for his rifle.

The two men struggled. Another patrolman slugged the Negro on the head with a billy-club. The crowd roared.

Leaping onto the hood of a parked car, a Negro youth hurled a soft drink bottle into the face of the officer who wielded the nightstick.

Troopers pushed quickly into the crowd, lobbing volleys of tear gas grenades. Gasping, screaming, cursing, the crowd scattered into the darkness.

There were no serious injuries, and no arrests.

The troopers moved to disperse the throng after about 175 National Guardsmen arrived on campus with bayonets fixed to serve as reinforcements.

Three companies of Guardsmen were marched to the north gate after patrolmen ordered back 1,500 Negroes who sought to stage a protest march on the campus.

In this earlier confrontation, held in the glare of floodlights, officials again warned Negro leader Charles Evers that a Chancery Court injunction bars him from the college grounds and forbids such a march.

Evers, state field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asked: "What would you do if we marched anyhow? Would you draw your guns and shoot us?"

"I won't answer that," countered Giles Crisler, the highway patrol spokesman.

Turning back, Evers led his followers in an emotional prayer.

At his campus home, Boyd denied Evers' charge that he had suspended students who took part in civil rights work and had refused to allow students and faculty to campaign for civil rights on or off the campus.

"There was no dispute on this

5% Increases Are Planned

Wellsville Council Orders Police, Fire Wage Boosts

Legislation to grant 5 per cent across - the - board wage increases to members of the police and fire departments was ordered during a meeting of Wellsville City Council Tuesday night. The raises will be retroactive to Jan. 1.

The legislators indicated they would have liked to grant a greater increase, but pointed out it was out of the question now because of the financial picture.

Council previously had adopted legislation granting 10 per cent increases to members of the departments, but Mayor William Daugherty vetoed the ordinances, declaring there were insufficient funds.

Council then delayed action until after the annual appropriation was adopted last week.

Other city employes received wage increases the latter part of 1965 at the suggestion of the mayor, but the police and fire departments were bypassed.

In other business, Council ordered legislation to increase the salary of the Civil Service Commission clerk from $150 to $240 a year and to pay $60 per year for the telephone of the city dog warden.

Adopted was a resolution authorizing Wayne Rose, Council clerk, to order title service and title insurance on the city-owned building at 12th St. — the former Standard Hardware building — at a cost not to exceed $500 from the Ohio Title Corp. of Columbus. Also approved was legislation appropriating the necessary funds.

This action overrides a veto by Mayor Daugherty, who claimed the title search could be made for less money and that it was not necessary to obtain title insurance until after the deed was cleared.

Council also ordered legislation authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids for supplies of coal, alum, lime, gasoline, salt, slag and blacktop.

No action was taken on a suggestion from the mayor that legislation be ordered on adver-

U.S. Plans Unrelenting B52 Strikes

Forces Expected To Rely On Raids In Monsoon Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans unrelenting and perhaps stepped-up B5 attacks against the Viet Cong during South Viet Nam's approaching rainy monsoon season, sources said today.

American forces are expected to lean heavily on the big jets when the Communists launch their expected offensive timed with the arrival of bad weather.

The Communists last year used the monsoon rains to advantage, striking while muddied roads and clouded skies limited defensive operations.

This year the B52s are available — they entered the war last June — and can be used on a daily basis to support ground forces and knock out enemy bunkers, tunnels, storage facilities, supply dumps, munitions caches and resting areas.

Defense Department spokesmen say the multimillion-dollar B52s are expected to encounter no problems from thunderstorms which brew over South Viet Nam in late April and May.

For one thing, they said, while the B52 has visual sighting capability, its pilots generally prefer radar for locating targets even in clear weather.

In severe storms, B52 pilots might choose to skirt towering cloud formations and thus forego a target, they said, but such cases would be rare. In any event, the jet could be diverted to another mission.

The Air Force may put jets with expanded bomb capability to use in the next few weeks. Since November work has been under way to modify B52 interiors to hold more bombs. Spokesmen acknowledged Tuesday that the revamped aircraft have not yet been used.

Presently the B52s carry 51 750-pound bombs. Modifications will permit one to tote 84 500-pounders inside and 24 750-pounders under its wings for a total 60,000 pounds — 57 per cent above the present 38,250 pounds.

The all-weather capability plus the big bomb load are among reasons the B52 has become a favored instrument of war in Viet Nam.

Military officers returning from the Southeast Asian country have invariably praised B52 operations, although there has been some debate on whether the cost is justified.

Marine Lt. Gen. Lewis Walt told newsmen at a recent Pentagon briefing that intelligence shows the sudden rain of explosives from B52s has had a "tremendous psychological effect" on the Viet Cong.

ANTI-GOVERNMENT DEMONSTRATION. Young rioters sack a Vietnamese newspaper office during the third night of rioting in Saigon. Hundreds of students went on a wild rampage through the city's streets. Earlier, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky agreed to pull his Loyalist Marines out of Da Nang and convened a special convention to arrange national elections. Defiant Buddhists boycotted the session. Gains Seen In Effort To End Crisis

Ky Confident Of Solving Troubles With Da Nang Unit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — New antigovernment demonstrations rocked Saigon and Hue today, but Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime appeared to be making some headway toward ending the grave political crisis that has threatened to tumble it.

Ky called the situation still serious but said he is confident the difficulties with dissident military men in Da Nang can be resolved peacefully.

A few hours after his optimistic statement, 1,000 demonstrators surged through the center of Saigon tonight, wrecking a Vietnamese newspaper office on the way. The youths moved out from a student headquarters at whistle commands from a group of young Buddhist monks.

The mob gathered strength as it surged downtown and attacked the ground floor office of the paper Song, smashing machinery and furniture with knives and sticks. The demonstrations came on the heels of a report of a pact between Saigon authorities and militant student leaders to ease tensions in the capital.

About 10,000 Vietnamese demonstrated peaceably earlier in the day in Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon. Because of the continuing agitation in the northern Buddhist stronghold, some 70 foreign civilians—half of them Americans—were evacuated to nearby Marine bases at Phu Bai and Da Nang.

The U. S. Embassy, which canceled its first evacuation order Tuesday, decided to act after it was told by Vietnamese authorities they could not assure the safety of American installations in Hue.

Most U. S. advisers with the Vietnamese army's 1st Division in the Hue area also were called into U. S. Command compounds in Hue and elsewhere, but some American advisers remained in

Could Change Both U.S., Viet Outlook

Political Crisis In Viet Threatening War Effort

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four weeks of political unrest in Viet Nam's cities has brought a dangerous new crisis to this unstable country, threatening the war effort.

Ironically the political unrest has come as American arms have stabilized the war front and averted the outright defeat which seemed imminent in 1965.

What has caused the outbreaks in the streets of Saigon, Da Nang and Hue? What do the Buddhists want? What do the students want? Are Communists behind the outbreaks? Why the anti-Americanism?

There is no one answer. If there were the problem might be more easily solvable.

Here are some of the factors:

The people involved in demonstrations represent a small fraction of the population, perhaps no more than two or three per cent, but the numbers do not control the danger. Fewer students and Buddhists have toppled earlier governments. Perhaps four-fifths of the population is apathetic, particularly in the countryside, but they also are war-weary to their bones after years of conflict. Even victories by government and American troops don't seem to encourage them. This leaves political leadership to others.

Perhaps most significant and dangerous of all has been the appearance of South Vietnamese soldiers and civil servants among the demonstrators in Da Nang.

Undoubtedly Communist infiltrators have had a hand in the demonstrations. How much no one knows, but they would be ineffective alone. Professional agitators have played a hand, as they have in every political coup in Saigon. Men like Le Quy Viet, who tells proudly of arrests going back to 1945, and claims at 39 that he has at least 20 years of politicking ahead.

The Buddhists and the students have been the main factors, as they have been in every coup in this country. What they

Letters From Soldier

Tell Of Death, Coming Home; Killed In Viet

CLARKSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — An American soldier in Viet Nam writes home about many things.

He tells his wife about the hot, sticky weather. He asks his mother to send cookies. He tells his brother about the M16 — "A real fine gun." He tells them all, "I'm all right."

Pfc. Brent A. McClellan of Clarksville was one of those soldiers. McClellan, 21, was killed Feb. 27 in an ambush 300 miles north of Saigon.

His letters home are kept in a neat bundle by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McClellan Jr. They tell of discomfort, despair, tragedy, death and of going home — but mostly of death and of going home.

"There is nothing to look forward to over here," he wrote in his last letter, "except going home, and that is too far off and too much might happen before then."

McClellan was sent to Viet Nam last December, and when he got to his base camp in the Ia Drang Valley with the 1st Infantry Division, he discovered what war is like.

"We are really crowded," he wrote, "and they do not have enough stuff to go around. Our company has 80 cases of malaria. All together, there are 116 in the hospital."

McClellan's education had begun. He soon learned that even a thing like water was precious. "Water is hard to come by up here. They bring in 15 gallons a day for 32 men."

He went without other luxuries. He fought, ate and slept in the same fatigues for 21 days. His weight dropped rapidly.

His first lesson in war came late in January. McClellan's company was sweeping several villages in search of Viet Cong. It was part of Operation Masher.

"We took 45 prisoners yesterday," he said. "We had to take women and children. They took

Real Estate Reappraisal Set In County

LISBON — A reappraisal of real estate in Columbiana County has been directed by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals, County Auditor Kenneth Bell announced today.

The reappraisal is to begin within two months, with the reassessment to be completed by June 30, 1968, in order to make the new valuation a part of the tax duplicate for collection of taxes in 1968, Bell said.

The current valuation of the county is $245 million.

The latest reappraisal was undertaken in 1961 when the valuation of the county went from $209 million to $235 million in the 1962 tax year.

Bell said bids already have been received for the appraisal by private concerns, and more are expected.

Tentative plans call for contracting with a firm to do an appraisal of the industrial, commercial, utility and exempted property in the county, set land values, furnish appraisal cards and take an option on appraising the residential properties.

Bell said he plans to wait until after the November election to work out details for appraising the residential properties to permit the auditor for the next term to arrange the program. Bell is seeking re-election.

The 1961 appraisal cost some $240,000 for the private contractor, materials, field workers and other expenses.

Parsons said it is hoped the hunt will become an annual Easter event.

Fund Solicitation Launched For Newell Fire Department

The annual fund solicitation to assist in operations of the Newell volunteer fire department will be launched this week.

Plans were completed during a meeting Monday night at the station.

Each residence will be asked to contribute a minimum of $5 in the house - to - house canvass, with the money to be used for upkeep of equipment, payment of light and heat and for new equipment.

The streets will be covered by firemen as follows:

Harrison St. — Vern Betteridge and Ronald Deese.

Grant St. — Donald McVeigh, Floyd Wilson, David Jester and Dick Rayburn.

Jefferson St. — Robert Stoneburner and Jim Tice.

Washington St., from 2nd to 7th — Alvin Mooney and Earl Flesch.

Washington St., including 1st and 2nd Sts. and Oliverville— Gene Lytton, Bill Gamble and Jim Raimond.

Newell Heights — Robert Duncan and George Cox.

The fund drive will continue through April and next month, if necessary, it was pointed out.

In other business Monday night, Boughner was admitted as a regular member following a one-year trial period.

Reports were given on two calls made by firemen Monday. They were summoned to the Joetown residence of Nicholas Maruca to administer emergency oxygen and later in the day were called to assist a woman resident of Grant St. who accidentally had locked herself out of her home.

The committee reported that four area high school bands have been invited to participate in the parade June 4, with one acceptance already received. Invitations also have been sent to area fire departments to participate.

Representatives of civic organizations wishing to sponsor a stand during the carnival were reminded to contact Gene Lytton or Don McVeigh.

Plans were announced for mounting a plaque in the station recognizing retired firemen who have served 10 years or more. Some 25 are currently eligible to be listed, it was explained.

It was recommended that doors in the hallway of the station be replaced.

The trustees met following the regular session.

NEW CUMBERLAND — Howard M. Hayward, 46, of New Cumberland R. D. 2 was fined $10 and costs by Squire John D. Herron Tuesday on a charge of having an expired inspection sticker. He was cited by West Virginia state police.

James Robert Higgins, 22, of East Liverpool was released from the Hancock County jail Monday after paying a fine of $20 and costs for speeding, Squire Herron said.

Higgins had been cited Sunday night by state police and was being held at the jail in lieu of $30 bond.

It's Time For The Pageant

Congress and the White House are tippy-toeing around each other again in the early stages of their annual guessing game over spending.

This has been done so often it's as patternized as "Swan Lake." First, the White House submits a budget, as called for in its table of duties. Second, Congress takes one look at the presidential budget and exclaims, "Holy cow, this will bankrupt the country!"

Then, having pinned the blame for reckless spending where all legislators think it should be, the representatives and senators start log-rolling for their pet projects and sizing up the pork barrel for anything that may come up for grabs.

Congressional committees buckle down to work to sort out unworthy proposals for spending money from worthy ones, always finding two of the latter for one of the former. Intermittently, anti-administration politicians of both parties shriek into the nearest microphone or the nearest ear of a sympathetic newsman that the White House is up to its usual madness of bankrupting the Republic.

BUT ALL THE time this is going on, the salient fact of the spending situation remains what it has been since the United States began. Only Congress can spend money. It alone has constitutional authority to vote appropriations.

The White House cannot spend a cent without congressional approval. It cannot raise or lower an appropriation. It can entreat, beg, cajole, threaten, cozen, and argue. But it is helpless to authorize spending. Only Congress can do that.

Yet, it has become part of the political pageant that the White House always shall be blamed for profligacy and Congress always shall be portrayed as being dragged into profligacy against its will, like an innocent maid being abducted by some half-man-half-beast with dollar signs for teeth.

Even professional cheese-parers in Congress who make a big thing of saving money in public always are to be found in private clustered close to the mother lode of federal cheese hacking away with their knives.

But what do they say if they think someone is watching? They point to the White House and chant in chorus, "Blame the spendthrift who lives in there."

THE PAGEANT is now under way. Latest piece of neat footwork is a House vote upping a White House budget request for a federal pay raise. It is the third time this session that the House has ignored a presidential budget request by voting larger sums.

But ask any representative or senator who is spending money recklessly and he will point to the White House. "Blame him," they will say, meaning President Johnson.

It's all part of the political tippy-toeing that keeps taxpayers from knowing where to place responsibility for the highest taxes in history that are soon to go higher and never will level off until the tippy-toeing stops.

Evolution Of The Presidency

President Johnson's announcement that he has filled all but two of the 14 posts of presidential assistant set up by law to ease the presidential burden is a milestone in the evolution of the presidency.

We know now what has not always been evident in the past. Each president must work out his own way of running the White House, because each president will be different in his individual nature. There is no fixed pattern.

Each national administration will be dealing with different problems. It will be necessary to put stress in different places. Some presidents will have an executive staff provided for them, which was the case with Dwight Eisenhower, who had no political background of his own. Some will prefer to surround themselves with personal friends, which was John Kennedy's preference.

Harry Truman was charged with liking to do it on a basis of "cronyism." Franklin Roosevelt, who coped with problems and situations that now seem remote and old-fashioned, was accused of wanting to do everything himself, using his Cabinet officers and staff only to carry out personal orders.

In the Eisenhower administration, staff organization was military — from the top down. In the Kennedy administration, it was personal — from the chief executive outward. In the Johnson administratiion, it is assumed everybody will be responsive to the presidential will as a member of an executive team.

Thus, the two latest additions, Walt Rostow, who is moving into the White House from the State Department, and Robert E. Kintner, former president and board chairman of National Broadcasting Corp., will be expected to double in brass, woodwinds, percussion and whatever else comes along, though their specialties will be foreign policy and communications, respectively.

The presidency is a continuously changing job. No two presidents ever have done it the same, and today's chief executive surrounded by dozens of busy associates in such a far cry from the Lincolns, Garfields, McKinleys, Grants, Wilsons and even Herbert Hoover, the first to disperse responsibility by forming a "kitchen cabinet," that there is no comparison.

All that remains now is for the presidency to be computerized.

The Jet Set

The Federal Aviation Agency's deputy administrator for supersonic development, now estimates it will cost $4 billion to deliver the first 2,000 m.p.h. jet to the airlines.

The price keeps going up because the project Is so costly the airlines, themselves, keep backing away from it, saying they cannot afford the expense.

Yet, if the plane is developed, they will have to buy it and fly it to stay competitive with each other. And passengers will have to fly in it to stay competitive with each other. And nations will have to develop still faster and larger jets to stay competitive with each other.

Where's everybody going in such a hurry anyway?

Roving Date

By Richard Spong

Easter falls on the same date for all Christendom this year by a trick of the calendar. Ordinarily the Greek Orthodox observance is later.

In the year 325 A.D., Constantine convoked the historic Council of the Christian Churches at Nicea. By that time, pilgrims were traveling by the thousands to the Holy Land to celebrate the resurrection. So the council decided that Easter should be fixed at a time when pilgrims could be guided in safety by the light of the full moon. Easter was set on the first Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal equinox.

But the time of the vernal equinox varied according to longitude, and opinions continued to diverge as to what date was the correct one. The Gregorian calendar promulgated in 1582 helped matters only in a limited way because the Eastern churches held to the old Julian calendar, refusing to accept a reform originated by the Roman Church.

BACK IN 1923, the League of Nations called a conference attended by Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, and Anglican church delegates to study the Easter date confusion. A general desire was expressed that the date of Easter be fixed, as the date for the celebration of Christ's birth is fixed, and many proposals for calendar reform were brought forward thereafter.

The British Parliament even passed an Easter Act in 1928 designating the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April as Easter day, contingent upon its acceptance internationally. The desired acceptance has not been forthcoming.

A fixed date for Easter was one of the ecclesiastical reforms recommended by the Vatican II Ecumenical Council in Rome in 1963l but agreement still seems remote. The disunity is the more provoking for the fact that Easter is the chief festival of the Christian year, commemorating the resurrection of Christ.

EASTER, AND THE MANY other dates which depend upon it — Shrove Tuesday (or Mardi Gras), Ash Wednesday, Lent, Palm Sunday, and Good Friday, to name just the ceremonies most widely observed — vary from year to year with a formula that most people find baffling. The uncertainty is a consequence of the incompatibility between the lunar year, on which the Jewish calendar was based, and the solar year, which regulates modern calendars.

As The Financial Times of London observed several years ago, having spent 1,800 years in persuading all Christians to celebrate Christmas the same day, the churches are reluctant to hurry into another change. Nevertheless, the lives of city dwellers are becoming too complex to be regulated by the phases of the moon.

It can be urged that some of the pageantry — and growing secularization — of Easter stems from the artificial formula of setting the date: The word Easter, incidentally, is derived from "Eostre" or "Eastre," the Anglo-Saxon name for the goddess of spring. Doubtless many of our tenacious Easter customs are also heritages from a dim pagan past — the rabbits, eggs, and other fertility symbols and the parading of new finery.

New Pioneers

A new wave of pioneers is sweeping across Wyoming. Scientists are discovering and industrialists are developing vast mineral riches beneath wastelands.

Already Wyoming ranks second among the states in uranium production, fifth in oil and ninth in natural gas. Its coal deposits could supply the entire United States for 300 years.

The mountainous state also mines nearly all the nation's bentonite, a vital clay used in steelmaking, and trona, an ingredient in glass, soap and paper.

New investment money totaling nearly a billion dollars has been pumped into Wyoming industry in the last decade.

A National Geographic staff writer, David S. Boyer, reports on "Wyoming: High, Wide, and Windy" in the April National Geographic.

In booming Casper, oil money has sprouted plush new homes, colorful office buildings and sophisticated shops. "The city claims a millionaire for every 1,100 persons — some 40 of them," writes the author.

Cheyenne, once a ripsnorting, shoot-'em-up cowboy town, now has a major industry a hundred million times more lethal than the Wild West at its wildest. The 90th Strategic Missile Wing, with headquarters at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, controls 200 of the nation's stockpile of some 800 Minuteman missiles.

Odd Facts

It is generally agreed by psychologists that the threshold of highest mentality in a human being is reached about 11 o'clock in the morning of an average day.

The hardest of all metals is vanadium. It is used in combination with other metals, in alloys. When used with steel, it is made into ball bearings, leaf springs, transmission gears, rear axle gears and steering - gear parts in automobiles.

High On The Anti-Pollution List

Students Aren't Wild Reformers

By Terry Ferrer

Despite the teach-ins, marches, sit-ins, lie-downs, foul-speech movements, riots and draft-card burnings, the nation's college students are not a rabble of red-eyed social reformers.

The fact is that campus food—or rather poor campus food—ranked second only to civil rights as the trigger to student protests during the 1964-65 college year. And demonstrations against United States policy in Viet Nam barely beat out organized complaints against dress regulations.

A fresh and surprising new study on "the scope of organized student protest in 1964-65" is published by Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J. Written by Dr. Richard E. Peterson, 34, an ETS associate research phychologist who won his PHD at Berkeley, the study examines answers from 849 of the country's 1,000 four-year colleges and universities, answers provided by deans of students.

Peterson stresses that on 27 issues, ranging from poor instruction to academic freedom to peace demonstrations, the number of students involved never went higher than 8 per cent of the various student bodies.

THAT TOP PROTEST figure was about dormitory and other living arrangements such as women's hours in men's dormitories. Almost as high a percentage of students complained vociferiously over regulations against student drinking.

Among the 849 colleges surveyed, 38 per cent reported protests over civil rights, an off-campus involvement. Yet these demonstrations involved only some 6 per cent of the students. Next came the food protests (29 per cent), with less than 7 per cent of the students complaining.

Protest in the South over civil rights during the long hot summer of 1964 tied for third with dormitory regulations at 28 per cent of the institutions. But Southern civil rights work attracted only half as many students — some 4 per cent — as did the quarrels over dorm rules.

More than 5 per cent of the students at 24 per cent of the colleges and universities protested or worked for other civil rights causes.

VIET NAM demonstrations were reported at 21 per cent of the colleges — but less than 5 per cent of the students participated. Gripes about the food were next (20 per cent of the colleges), with almost 7 per cent of the students griping.

"Relatively few students were engaged in protesting matters dealing with instruction, faculty and freedom of expression at the relatively few colleges where such protests were in fact reported," says Peterson. So much for the much-publicized poor quality of faculty and the "publish or perish" issues as spurs to mass student action.

He points out, "there obviously are substantial numbers of students willing to make known publicly their antagonism to existing situations —especially those situations where there is a perceived moral contradiction or hypocrisy. And there is every indication that the numbers of student activists have been multiplying in the past five years."

In fact, Peterson says, "the current surge of student unrest and active protest must certainly be among the most significant developments in higher education, perhaps in American society, of the mid-1960s. As a cultural phenomenon, as a social force, it warrants being understood."

LIKE OTHER researchers before him, Peterson finds that the highly intelligent student is the most likely to protest. Rather ironically, he points to the "relative peace" at Teachers' Colleges and technical institutes.

In large universities of over 10,000 students—such as Berkeley — the intelligent student meets large classes, faculty disinterest, intense competition for grades — and resultant widespread cheating — control of personal life, and suddenly it's all a "rat race" and the protests are on.

What next? Will the protests grow or diminish?

Like the authors of the recent faculty committee report at Berkeley, Peterson believes they will grow. He is even quite specific on what the protests will be about. For example, he says, "At selective universities that have not witnessed Viet Nam protests, the likelihood is quite good that they will in the very near future."

Catholic colleges are much more likely to have organized complaints about inflexible curriculums than are independent universities. If there is a chapter of the students for a Democratic society on campus, the probability of student ferment is greater.

"The lesson of Berkeley," however, "has been widely learned," says Peterson. A large number of deans reported new arrangements to give students more say in college affairs. But unless these arrangements "truly allow for real student participation," the protests may become much worse.

Tough Law Works

More than half the nation's drug addicts live in New York City and more than half of all addicts are Negroes, declares the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics.

Ohio is not among the states with a significant problem in narcotics addiction. Illinois, California, New Jersey, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Texas rank behind New York state in this regard.

Why doesn't Ohio have a narcotics problem? The answer is obvious.

Ohio has a stiff narcotics law that makes merely having the stuff in one's possession enough to draw a five-year prison term.

The intent of Ohio's tough legislation was to make dope peddlers and junkies give Ohio a wide berth. It has worked.

Grin And Bear It

"Naturally, I'm in favor of four-year terms for congressmen . . . Now, they can barely squeeze in a junket or two before there's the expense of a new election."

Illegal Strikes

By David Lawrence

Congress Fails To Do Its Duty

When are the American people going to demand that their elected representatives in Congress pass a law punishing the members of any labor union for participating in an illegal strike or for refusing to cross its picket lines?

David Lawrence

The New York City transit strike was an example of serious damage done to the public by an illegal strike. An even more flagrant strike—against eight railroads last week—has hurt businesses and plants in 38 states by an interruption of rail transportation. Damages amounting to tens of millions of dollars were inflicted not only on the railroads but on the users of transportation, especially in delayed deliveries. Some plants had to be closed, and many thousands of workers were idled. It's questionable whether any of this will ever be recompensed.

Why should citizens be subjected to such expenses, particularly since no action on their part was in any way responsible for the strike? There are plenty of laws that penalize anybody who takes money away from someone else, but unfortunately the losses suffered by innocent persons in a labor dispute have been ignored by the nation's lawmakers.

THE ENDING of a big strike doesn't seem to solve the question of payment for damages already inflicted. In fact, some labor leaders have been demanding immunity from prosecution—or the payment of damages—as the price of a final settlement. It's a form of blackmail.

Railroads have, of course, a right to sue for damages if a strike is proved to have been illegally called. This, too, becomes a problem. It arouses in management circles a fear of reprisals by the union. So court litigation is sometimes dropped by the employers when a strike settlement is reached. In the case of the New York City transit strike, even the State Legislature, in effect, repealed retroactively the law forbidding strikes on public transportation faciltiies. Hence, the union which had been held by the courts to be in contempt wasn't penalized.

Some of the railroad unions, which did not initiate the strike but were affected by it expressed openly last week their disapproval of the work stoppage and denounced it as illegal. Would they today support members of Congress who vote to pass a law meting out severe punishment to union officers when the latter call an illegal strike or disobey a court order, and would any labor leaders approve legislation imposing heavy damages on unions which refuse to cross picket lines when illegal strikes are in progress?

LEADERSHIP in behalf of the people is, of course, an obligation of the president as well as members of Congress but the labor unions have until now been able, because of their contributions to political campaigns, to prevent the passage of legislation they don't like.

President Johnson didn't say a word publicly in criticism of those who were responsible for the illegal tie-up on the railroads until the very last moment and after the courts had imposed penalties.

Relief from such situations will beome only when Congress recognizes that any interference with interstate commerce by transportation unions is as much a violation of civil rights and a federal crime as attacking a Negro leader on the streets or the highways.

What is needed is a citizens' organization independent of any party but willing to seek pledges from large numbers of people that they will vote against the party in power in either the White House or in Congress as long as a labor-union dictatorship is allowed to call strikes in defiance of legal restructions and to subject innocent persons to financial hardship.

THE DAY STILL IS distant when all citizens will be protected in the right to have their property immune from damage or confiscation through illegal strikes. The reason for the conditions prevailing today is the apathy of the voters generally. This probably is due to a lack of information as to what's going on. There would be a different story to tell if enough persons pledged themselves to vote against an elected representative of either party who does nothing to help prevent or punish palpable interferences with the rights and property of private citizens through illegal strikes.

This is the dilemma of American politics. A single group of citizens—organized labor—manages nowadays to control a majority in both houses of Congress.

Political

want depends on what faction they belong to. Basically they want power, if not actual positions, then to be king makers.

Then there are skyrocketing prices and the natural resentment of any population against foreign troops who by local standards are rich, live better, and monopolize girls, bars and entertainment.

Finally there are the ruling generals who joust among themselves for power.

In this struggle for power, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky fired Lt. Gen. Nguygen Chanh Thi, commander of the 1st Corps. That precipitated the present crisis.

Ky acted to "unify" the generals' junta, U.S. officials said at the time. It had the opposite effect. Thi proved as powerful as many suspected. Within days of his ouster, rioting began in Hue and Da Nang and Ky was forced to permti Thi to return to the northern sector.

By firing Thi, Premier Ky exposed a crack in the ruling junta. This gave the opposition an opening. The balance of power within the junta is as delicate as a watchspring.

The issues now go far beyond a junta squabble. They affect the Western world's whole position here.

The Buddhists tasted power first in 1963 when they overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem.

They have been a force to be reckoned with ever since. Close observers believe they now want a government they can control.

Moderate and extremist wings of the Buddhist hierarchy appear to be divided over the timing.

"Moderate" is a comparative term to describe the Buddhist group headed by Thich Tam Chau, chairman of the Buddhist Institute in Saigon. He desires a civilian government eventually. There was a feeling that Tam Chau and his followers would be prepared to wait several months for the "political congress" Ky has proposed to determine a national constitution. After this, elections would be held, and the Buddhists feel they would win. Now Tam Chau wants elections in three months.

Extremists, headed by the mysterious Thich Tri Quang, want the government overthrown now and a civilian government formed.

Tri Quang has been credited with masterful planning in Hue and Da Nang.

When 18,000 people took to the streets of Hue in a protest march, that was one-third of the city's population. Tri Quang's Buddhists dominate officialdom in that old imperial capital, and the sallow, enigmatic monk obviously has support. U.S. officials believe the situation is worse now in Hue than in Da Nang.

The Buddhists have far less influence in Saigon than in Hue. But the sight of 10,000 people sitting quietly with upturned faces any evening at the Buddhist Institute, listening to their favorite Buddhist orator, impresses students of power politics. No other group can gather a large crowd so easily in Saigon.

The Buddhists have power also in the coastal cities of Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Quang Ngai, because they have no competition.

Only the Viet Cong has the scope and the organizational namese army keeps the Viet Cong out of the cities, leaving the Buddhists freedom of operation.

Civilian politicians discredited themselves early in 1965 when they deliberately collapsed a nonmilitary government because of political rivalries. The military had no choice but to take over again.

This does not dissuade the diehard politicians from trying. Political agitators were quickly on the scene after the ruling ability to compete. The Viet-junta split with Thi's ouster.

A militant student organization was created in Saigon and politicians openly led demonstrations. The Buddhists provided the demonstrators and the politicians the leadership.

The Catholic role in the current crisis has been extremely low-keyed.

Father Hoang Quynh, a Catholic extremist, has issued several statements partly supporting the Buddhist demand for a civilian government. But Catholic influence in Da Nang and Hue is small.

Rotarians Get Review Of Program At Salem

"Project Growing Up," a community program initiated in Salem a year ago February, was explained by three of its founders — the Rev. Thomas Webster, Mrs. Sam Pridon and Dr. James R. Milligan—during the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

The explosive elements of sex, drugs and alcohol were the principal topics of discussion, the Salem program being directly connected with efforts to educate the public with facts relative to these matters.

"Project Growing Up" was compared with JUMP, a similar community program in the East Liverpool area. The Salem organization was prompted originally by protests of the Salem Ministerial Association about smutty newsstand articles, it was explained by Rev. Webster.

IN ADDITION to the three speakers, other clergymen and Salem school authorities took an active part in establishing the program, it was pointed out.

Dr. Milligan underlined the medical aspects of the sex problem, in particular, and revealed that last year alone 100,000 syphilis cases and one million gonorrhea cases were reported by U.S. health officials, which, along with many unreported cases, represented a great upsurge over previous years.

He stressed the importance of educating both children and adults about the dangers of untreated syphilis and gonorrhea. Also a problem, he continued, is the rising number of cases of abortions, child brides and homosexuals.

Although it should be the primary responsibility of the parents to inform their children, they often are not qualified in this respect, and, as a result, sex facts are generally best taught by an outsider, the doctor pointed out.

Mrs. Pridon, a junior and senior high school guidance counselor, discussed the reaction of students as reflected in surveys sponsored by the community project in cooperation with school authorities.

MOST senior high students, Mrs. Pridon said, agreed that a program beginning at about the seventh-grade level would have benefitted them, but they felt that an educational program in the field of sex, drugs and alcohol is largely wasted on high school level students not previously indoctrinated.

According to the students, the area of venereal disease and sex was regarded as the largest sphere of ignorance. And they considered drinking as the principal motivating factor in sexual activity.

Rev. Webster explained that the present stage of planning calls for bringing in experts to enlighten parents. In addition, a proposed curriculum for students, partially based on information received from other cities with similar enlightenment programs, will be submitted to school officials this month.

It was emphasized by the three speakers that the group doesn't propose to take the place of parents or to set ethical behavior patterns, but to help in making sound decisions.

By next fall, it was said in conclusion, representatives of the group plan to begin counseling pupils on a seventh-grade level. It was emphasized that provisions will be made for those not wishing to attend the counseling sessions and that they will be scheduled to run concurrently with the gym period.

A question-and-answer period followed.

The Rev. D. Ross Salisbury was program chairman.

Recently - elected members of the board of directors met following the program.

Rev. Salisbury gave the invocation.

Visiting Rotarians were Hugh Cooper, president of the Lisbon club, Dan Harland of Cincinnati and Howard Millikan of Weirton.

E. R. Chandler presided.

Various improvement and maintenance projects for the summer were discussed.

Group To Ask City Aid On Baseball Facilities

The East Liverpool City Park Commission Tuesday night decided to seek assistance from Council in providing additional baseball facilities.

John Parsons, chairman of the commission, said at present there is only one baseball field within the city and pointed out one league has had to disband and more face termination because of lack of fields.

The problem was discussed during a meeting of the commission last night at the office of Mayor George Willshaw.

Councilman James Lowe, Fred Simmen, president of the Columbiana County Community Action Committee, and William Gill of American Legion Post 374 were among those attending.

The commission, after a lengthy discussion, decided to seek funds from Council to provide one or more fields, Parsons said.

In other action, the commission discussed the $4,500 appropriation provided by Council.

Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne was appointed to direct the commission's program of renting city - owned docking facilities along the Ohio River. Applications for docking space may be obtained from the mayor's office by May 1.

The commission agreed to seek additional bids for a planned renovating of the Broadway wharf. Only one has been received to date.

Simmen outlined the various federal aid programs available for recreation. The commission agreed to apply for aid under the program as part of long-range planning, but to proceed with efforts to obtain local aid for immediate use, Parsons said.

Discussion was held on appointment of a labor supervisor for various work undertaken by the commission, but action was tabled until the next meeting April 19.

Bills from the Ohio Power Co. totaling $27 and from Mike Pusateri for $125 for grading at the Thompson Park Little League field were approved.

NINE OUT OF TEN CHILDREN CATCH MEASELS

But now they don't have to. Your physician can vaccinate them against measles, just as he does to prevent small pox. Measles is not a simple disease without problems. One out of every six children with measles develop a secondary bacterial infection such as a pneumonia or an ear infection. While these infections usually respond to a doctor's care, why allow serious trouble? About one out of every 1,000 cases develop encephalitis — an infection for which there is as yet no specific treatment.

Since the conquest of polio, measles cause more deaths than any other common disease of childhood. If your child has not had measles, and has not yet been vaccinated against it, visit a physician soon.

tising for bids for a sewer rodding machine. Council decided first to obtain the specifications on the equipment. The machine is expected to cost approximately $3,500.

COUNCIL refused to accept the monthly report from Mayor Daugherty listing fines and fees collected, declaring it was not submitted on the proper form. The mayor generally uses a form designed specifically for the report, but last night submitted the report on plain paper with dividing lines drawn in with pen.

Council directed the report be returned and asked that the mayor submit it and the annual report by the next meeting.

Council President Allen Baldwin suggested to the finance committee that it see that the money listed in the mayor's monthly reports is turned over to the city treasurer.

A letter was received from Auditor Edgar S. Davidson relative to the annual appropriation ordinance, suggesting that changes be made in the breakdown of street maintenance funds. Solicitor Delmar T. O'Hara was asked to check with the auditor to determine what action is necessary.

Council received notice of membership in the Ohio Municipal League.

Councilman Russell Keefer said he had received complaints that parking on both sides of Riverside Ave., between 4th and 5th Sts., has caused traffic congestion. Baldwin commented it would be impossible to get a fire truck through the block if there were cars on both sides of the street.

A discussion followed. The street and light committee will investigate.

COUNCILMAN John McGarey said he has been informed by John Hales of CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., that no work will be done on the television cable line in Wellsville until after the work is completed in East Liverpool. McGarey said he was told that Channels 5 and 8 have been dropped from the listing of service provided because of FCC restrictions. Two others have been added in their place, he said.

Councilman James B. Phillips reported on refuse, a large water hole and animals on Danbury Ave. He termed the condition "deplorable."

Council was informed by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control at Columbus that it had been overruled on its objections to the transfer of permits held by Angelo Infanti from a location at 1339 Main St. to 1747 Main St.

O'Hara, Phillips and Keefer had appeared at the hearing in Columbus to testify for Council. Council based part of its objections on the proximity of the Garfield School, a playground and two churches. The department ruled that the closeness of a school or church is not sufficient evidence to support denial of an application for a liquor permit. All other objections also were dismissed.

Council then decided not to oppose an application for a carry-out permit by Mildred Hilton for a location on Main St., pointing out the only objections are the close proximity of two churches, which was disregarded in the other ruling.

Council approved payment of a bill of $37 from O'Hara for expenses incurred in the trip to Columbus and ordered it turned over to the auditor for payment.

Howard Lucas of 10th St. complained of the city spending and wage increases and said he would oppose a wage tax if ever presented.

Council will hold a caucus session April 14 at 7:30 p. m.

Following last night's session, Council met with a representative of the Walter H. Drane Co. of Cleveland on the recodification of city ordinances. The firm did the recodification of Salem and East Palestine ordinances.

Councilmen George Lawton and Jack Call were absent.

the field with Vietnamese troops.

Saigon demonstrators again defied the government's 9 p.m. curfew.

About 2,000 of them converged on the Buddhist Institute headquarters where several battalions of paratroopers attempted to keep them confined to a narrow area where they could be controlled. The soldiers threw tear gas grenades at the crowd. The doors of the institute were locked.

Apparently the demonstrators had no intention of entering the institute but rather hoped to break out of the cordon to move downtown for further demonstrations.

The crowd armed itself with rocks and clubs.

Some were carrying banners. Two of them, in English, read: "We want a Cabinet for peace."

"The Buddhists and Catholics are united for peace."

Other banners in Vietnamese echoed the now familiar demands for disbanding the ruling military junta and establishing a civilian government.

In the war against the Viet Cong, the U.S. 1st Infantry and Australian troops announced a big ground operation 30 miles east of Saigon had driven the Viet Cong out of 28 base camps in the jungle and swamps. Supported by New Zealand artillery fire, the allied push in the past week has accounted for 23 Viet Cong killed and the capture of 15 Communists, 10 weapons, two tractor-trailers and 867 tons of rice, a spokesman said.

U.S. Marines slogged through another five miles of mangrove swamp southeast of Saigon in Operation Jackstay, bringing them within 13 miles of the capital. Their goal is to free the shipping route to Saigon from Viet Cong harassment.

Despite the new demonstration in the north of the country, Ky said his emergency talks in Da Nang Tuesday convinced him the problem could be resolved without force.

In a statement published by the official Viet Nam press, he said: "Consequently, on the one hand I have given instructions that everything possible be done to check extremist actions on both sides so that nothing regrettable happens while a political solution is being sought.

"On the other hand, I have called a meeting of the (ruling) Military Directory and the Cabinet and I am positive we will find a solution very soon."

Ky promised to offer terms to the antigovernment authorities in Da Nang after the junta met.

In Da Nang, the commander of the army's northernmost 1st Corps, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Chuan, announced that the 4,000 Vietnamese marines flown there by Ky Monday to take control of the city from anti-Ky troops would be sent back to Saigon today or Thursday.

Ky's statement conceded the situation in the north still was serious, and his assessment was underscored by the new show of discontent in Hue, the Buddhist stronghold 50 miles north of Da Nang.

The demonstrators in the old imperial capital attacked the premier's charge Sunday that the Communists had taken over the antigovernment movement in Da Nang. Ky retracted Tuesday his threat to take over Da Nang with loyal troops.

The U.S. Embassy ordered the evacuation of a half-dozen American civilians from Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, but canceled their removal later in the day. An embassy spokesman said that the situation had eased.

Representatives of various civilian groups met in Saigon to discuss Ky's plan for a national convention to pave the way for civilian government.

campus until Evers brought those children in," Boyd said in reference to the youngsters from Negro public schools in Claiborne and Jefferson counties, where a boycott in sympathy with Alcorn students has greatly lowered attendance.

Boyd said he was not worried about the outcome of a conference Evers had in Jackson during the afternoon with the executive body of the State College Board. Evers gave the board a long list of grievances about conditions at the college.

"My head is not his to get," Boyd said. "The state of Mississippi will run its institutions. And Evers is not naming college presidents and faculty in Mississippi."

But Evers said, "J. D. Boyd has got to go. He's only concerned with pleasing the white folks."

Alcorn students complained to newsmen about the food, the infirmary, the grading system and the teachers.

"At the library they search you when you come out," said one student. "And we have an infirmary that is not fit to take care of dogs."

them in a Chinook (helicopter). The women and children were crying and scared. They were really pitiful."

On Feb. 11, a close buddy was killed — a Sgt. Comas.

On the morning of the 11th, McClellan said in a letter dated two days later, the company "got hit with machine guns and automatic weapons. We were in the small rice paddies in front of this village. We hit the ground and I crawled to a hump of dirt with the lieutenant and Sgt. Comas. We were pinned down there, couldn't move.

"They (the VC) were all over the village — in the coconut trees, in the hedgerows. You couldn't see them and were out in this open rice field.

"Sgt. Comas raised up to tell a squad to move out and he got shot in the head. He was looking right at me when he was lying there.

"The lieutenant and I were very lucky. In that little rice paddy, they killed three and wounded 11."

The company finally took the village. Later that night McClellan found his dead comrades lying side by side. "When I saw those GIs lying under those ponchos, I felt sick. I will never forget Sgt. Comas' face."

"He (the lieutenant) said this is a combat zone and people are going to get killed and we had to face life. I guess he is right."

McClellan's last letters, dated Feb. 23 and 24, talked of the enemy, of a new life after the Army, possibly college, and most of all — of home. But home — "is too far away and too much might happen before then."

2nd Extortion Arrest Made In Kidnap Case

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A second man has been arrested on extortion charges in connection with the March 28 kidnaping of Daniel Goldman, 18, from his home near Miami Beach.

FBI agents arrested Clyde Daniel Phelps, 60, of Clearwater Tuesday after he allegedly sent a letter to the Goldman family April 1 demanding $25,000.

The first man to be arrested Sunday was Gaston Genereux, 51, a chef at Boca Raton, Fla., who telephoned the Goldman family asking for the ransom money.

Word War Continues Over Greek Tanker

LONDON (AP) — An international war of words continued today over a Greek tanker which the British government fears may unload 18,000 tons of oil for Rhodesia in Portuguese Mozambique.

The tanker Joanna V anchored Tuesday off Beira, the Mozambique port which normally feeds oil to the rebellious British African colony by pipeline.

Government Shaken Up By British Chief

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson reshuffled his government Tuesday night to lay the groundwork for possible British entry into the European Common Market in two or three years, political sources reported today.

Wilson retained most of his old Cabinet but made a number of important changes on the sub-Cabinet level. He also reassigned a number of duties within the Cabinet.

He gave the task of working toward a union with the Common Market to Economics Minister George Brown, who also continues as deputy prime minister.

To assist Brown, Wilson appointed George Thomson to lead British delegations in meetings of the British-sponsored European Free Trade Association and other European economic discussions.

These moves do not foreshadow an immediate approach by Britain to the six-nation Common Market, officials said, but are intended to develop the conditions which could lead to short and successful negotiations for Britain's entry in two or three years.

In other duty shifts, Wilson took away from Brown responsibility for wage and price restraints.

There were no shifts in the major Cabinet posts.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Never On Sunday

Right off the top of his head Eddie Albert believes one way to improve TV would be to declare a rating moratorium every Sunday, and use it as a day for "D & R" — development and research.

Hal Humphrey

"In other words, Nielsen and all the other rating services would be turned off on Sunday and the networks could put on anything they wanted without having to worry about getting beat in the ratings," Eddie elaborates.

-:-

"NOBODY could get hurt, you see, and all of these people with ideas that supposedly aren't commercial enough to get a rating would have a day to try them out. I think sponsors might go for it, too, just to be in on the excitement.

"Of course, Ed Sullivan might not like it. He'd have to move to another night," adds Eddie, whose CBS-TV "Green Acres" series with Eva Gabor is tucked safely into a Wednesday night time spot.

On Easter Sunday Eddie will be part of Sullivan's show when he reads "The Creation" from poet James Weldon Johnson's cantata while backed by a 120-voice choir.

Sullivan could argue with Eddie that this isn't particularly time, while Eddie is doing his dramatic reading, it isn't likely there will be any crime holiday that night on ABC-TV's "FBI" show opposite Sullivan.

UNDER the Eddie Albert "Never on Sunday" plan each network would be obliged to turn the day over to non-series shows, special things which as he says the networks aren't putting on now because they fear low ratings.

"Maybe Lucille Ball and Bob Hope have a satire on government they want to do, for example," says Eddie, "something they can't work into their own shows. Let all of these producers, writers and directors who've said there's no longer any place for them in TV come forward and do their darnedest on Sunday."

Eddie admits he can't conceive that the networks or sponsors might do anything as rash as this, but he also sees no other way for TV's breaking out of the vicious tail-chasing circle it is in presently. There must, he feels, be some kind of concerted effort by the whole industry.

"SURE, we all know the rating system is at fault. Still we have nothing else to go by, but am I going to say it should be thrown out when CBS is leading in the ratings as it is and me a CBS stockholder?" asks Eddie, rhetorically.

Over the years the people responsible for what we see on TV, and some to a greater degree than others, have developed built-in rationales or excuses for every criticism pointed at them, and Eddie knows them all instinctively.

After all, it is said, TV is primarily responsible for selling merchandise for the sponsor. Any network president who tries to uplift his program quality is going to find his audience rating sliding.

The stock drops on the Big Board, then the stockholders cry for his scalp and he's replaced by another president who doesn't have any silly notion about uplifting viewers' tastes.

"AND don't forget," Eddie adds, "he's got a house on an island, two kids, a wife and a big mortgage to think about. What's he supposed to do, forget them? And anyway, it wouldn't do him any good, as you can see."

Eddie laughs at your or my naivete if we suggest this network mogul might move his family into town, take away one of the kids' Rolls Royces and fire an upstairs maid and in so doing get down to a living budget where he could afford to be a little more independent and responsible to what's left of his conscience.

When Fred Friendly quit his post as president of CBS News because his conscience wouldn't allow him to function only as a cog to improve his corporation's profits, many of his colleagues thought he'd flipped.

You can imagine the looks Eddie Albert or any one else would get if they seriously suggested to the networks that they take Sunday off for the rehabilitation of their souls.

Promotion Plans Are Outlined By Merchant Group

Plans for a spring promotion tentatively scheduled in May were discussed during a meeting Tuesday of the promotion and executive committees of the East Liverpool Merchants Association at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Max Schoff, chairman, appointed subcommittees on contracts, awards and advertising which will meet separately to complete their plans.

Wayne Snyder was named chairman of the contract committee, with Tom Phillips heading the awards committee. The advertising committee includes Schoff, George A. Shaw and Joseph Coons.

The committees also agreed to obtain window decals for merchants to show their membership in ELMA.

Telephone Call Sifted For Clue In Rape-Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police are investigating a mysterious phone call as a possible clue in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Lois B. Dant, 58.

Officers revealed Tuesday night a neighbor, Edwin Penno, received a phone call about 7:50 a.m., Monday, some three hours before Mrs. Dant's body was found in her apartment.

Penno said a male voice asked him, "Ed, this is Charlie. What time are you going to work this morning (Monday)?"

Penno, chief supervisor of the mental hygiene division of the Hamilton County Probate Court, said he thought he was talking to Charles Turner, a probate court deputy with whom he usually went to work.

Penno started to explain to the caller that he wasn't going to work because of a doctor's appointment, and then realized that the caller had hung up.

Police said Penno called Turner and another friend, Fred Schnabel, who is sometimes called Charlie, and learned that neither had phoned him.

Sgt. Russell Jackson declined to comment on the call, but some observers reasoned that perhaps the mysterious caller was the killer, and wanted to attack Penno's wife, but mistakenly attacked Mrs. Dant.

Mrs. Dant's body was found by her husband, Frank, 66, when he returned home after attending church. She had been raped.

Ruling Near As Baseball Trial Ends

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A trial that baseball lawyers say could crack the foundations of the game comes to a close today, five days before the opening of the 1966 major league season.

Only final arguments in the case of Wisconsin vs. the Braves and the National League remained to be heard before Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller began writing a decision.

Judge Roller is expected to rule before opening day—April 11—whether the Braves and the league violated Wisconsin's antitrust laws by stripping Milwaukee of major league baseball.

If he rules they did, he may include in his judgment an order directing the Braves to return to Milwaukee. Braves officials insist this would mean bankruptcy.

Judge Roller will have closing briefs and thousands of pages of testimony from the six-week trial to study before deciding the case, which one league attorney said was "an attack on the whole structure of baseball." Another argued the case could lead to the "ruination of baseball as we know it."

Should the Braves and the league lose, an appeal to a federal court is a foregone conclusion.

Potters Win 1st, Collect 11 Hits

Walker Hurls One-Hitter At Midland For 5-0 Win

Hard throwing Len Walker allowed only one hit in pitching the East Liverpool Potters to a 5-0 victory over Midland Tuesday at Crucible Field at Midland in a game called after five innings when rain halted the game.

The victory was the first in two starts for the Potters and the shutout was the first in four seasons under Coach Jim Potts.

Walker, in hurling the one-hitter, fanned eight batters and only allowed one walk. He also shined at the plate by going three-for-three and drove in two runs. The Leopards touched Walker for a harmless single in the third inning.

The righthander was given solid support with the Potters collecting 11 hits.

East Liverpool scored single runs in the second and third innings while adding three more in the fifth.

Mike McVay and Bob Woods chipped in with two hits each for the Potters.

Bernie Mraovic was the losing pitcher for Coach Rey Peduzzi's nine as he fanned five batters and didn't issue a walk.

Francis collected the only hit for Midland.

The Potters return to action Saturday in a doubleheader at Wellsburg.

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick Barry of the San Francisco Warriors received the maximum nine votes today in the annual National Basketball Association Coaches poll for the League's All-Rookie team.

Barry earlier this week was named Rookie of the Year in an NBA poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Other freshmen named to the All-Rookie team were Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia with eight votes, Tom Van Arsdale of Detroit with six, and Dick Van Arsdale of New York and Fred Hetzel of San Francisco, with five each. The Van Arsdales are twin brothers.

4 Vets Cut By Reds In Roster Trim

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a busy cutting day as major league clubs continued to trim their rosters to reach the 28-man limit by the opening of the baseball season, and several veterans felt the axe.

The Cincinnati Reds delivered the hardest blow against veterans Tuesday by sending three of them to the minors and asking waivers on another — pitcher Roger Craig.

Craig was placed on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

The 35-year-old right-hander previously played with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Mets. He was 1-4 with the Reds last season.

Sent to Buffalo on a 24-hour recall basis were pitchers Jim Duffalo and Dom Zanni. Outfielder Charley James, a member of the 1964 world champion St. Louis Cardinals, was sent to the Reds' minor league camp for reassignment.

Southpaw relief pitcher Bill Pleis, a five-year Minnesota veteran, was sent to the Twins' minor league training base for reassignment as was infielder Frank Quilici, who joined the Twins in mid-season last year and wound up as their regular second baseman in the World Series.

Another veteran sent down was New York Met catcher Chris Cannizzaro, like Craig and original member of the team. He was traded to Richmond for outfielder Don Dillard and an undisclosed amount of cash. Dillard then was sent to the Mets' minor league camp for reassignment.

WHISTLING WHILE he works is big Jack Nicklaus, who had just missed a 60-foot putt on the 18th green in a warmup session Tuesday at Augusta, Ga. Nicklaus rates the favorite in the 1966 Masters which begins Thursday. (UPI Telephoto)

Mantle Might Play, But As Pinch Hitter

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle might play when the New York Yankees open the 1966 baseball season — as a pinch hitter.

The $100,000 star outfielder has completely recovered from January surgery for the removal of a bone chip in his shoulder as far as batting is concerned, but it's a different story when it comes to throwing.

"Everything has come along well except for the throwing," Mantle said Monday. "I can hit from both sides of the plate, but I can only throw the ball about 100 feet. I can't get the right arm back. . .so I can't throw well enough to play.

"I can't play him if he can't throw," said Yankee Manager Johnny Keane. Rookie Roy White would open the season in center field, Keane added.

Lakers Move In For Kill At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers moved into town for the kill tonight after thwarting the St. Louis Hawks in their bid to win at least one on two games on the West Coast in their Western Division final playoff.

Down two games to none in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association series, the Hawks know they must stop chief executioners Jerry West and Elgin Baylor of the Lakers to stand a chance.

The teams meet in the third game tonight and then again Saturday night in St. Louis. The Lakers hope a return trip to the Coast will not be necessary.

West has had time to get a jammed finger on his shooting hand and his bruised right instep back into shape and the rest of the team is healthy, particularly Baylor. He proved he has come all the way back from injuries that threatened to end his career.

West and Baylor have averaged 32 points each in the first two contests.

Giants Rough Up Ex-Holdouts

Koufax, Drysdale Belted In Spring Mound Debuts

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale bowled over the baseball oddsmakers without throwing a pitch. All they have to do now is catch up with the National League hitters.

San Francisco sabotaged the Los Angeles aces' spring debut Tuesday, roughing them up in a 7-2 exhibition victory over the Dodgers. Koufax and Drysdale were clipped for six runs and 10 hits in their first competitive appearances since they ended a 32-day salary holdout last Saturday.

The Giants salvaged the last game of a three-game spring series with the world champions while Las Vegas gambling experts were installing the Dodgers as 2½-1 favorites to repeat in the National League. San Francisco had been the best bet, at the same odds, before the Dodgers finally signed their pitching mainstays for a reported total of $245,000.

In Tuesday's other exhibition play, the Chicago White Sox edged Cincinnati 2-1 on Gene Freese's run-scoring single in the 17th inning, the New York Mets blasted Detroit 11-2, Baltimore outslugged Boston 11-6, Atlanta nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, Cleveland trimmed the Chicago Cubs 8-5 and Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 2-0.

Jim Hart drove in four runs with two homers, leading the Giants past the Dodgers at Mesa, Ariz. Drysdale, who pitched the first three innings, yielded four runs on five hits, including a three-run homer by Hart. Tom Haller homered off Koufax, who worked the middle three innings and gave up two runs on five hits.

Hart hit his second homer off Johnny Podres in the seventh. Willie Mays, who missed the two weekend games between the clubs because of a sore wrist, played seven innings and had a single in four at-bats.

The White Sox, who lead the exhibition standings with a 19-6 mark, rallied with two out in the 17th against Cincinnati, breaking the 1-1 tie on a walk to pitcher Bruce Howard, Tom McCraw's single and Freese's hit. The game consumed 4 hours, 21 minutes and 41 players saw action.

Home runs by Dick Stuart, Ken Boyer, Ron Hunt and Jerry Grote led the Mets' barrage against the Tigers. Curt Blefary hit two homers, for a total of four in two days, as the Orioles pounded the Red Sox.

Denis Menke doubled in the seventh inning and scored the deciding run for the Braves on Woody Woodward's single. Tony Martinez sparked the Indians' 12-hit attack against the Cubs with three singles. Ray Herbert and rookie Grant Jackson scattered nine hits in the Phillies' victory over St. Louis.

Clay Ordered To Pay Alimony Or Go To Jail

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay, who boasts of the money he makes as heavyweight boxing champion, has until 5:30 p.m. Thursday to come up with $26,250 or go to jail for 30 days.

He was found in contempt of court Tuesday after he failed to show up in court and make at least an installment on the alimony he owes his pretty ex-wife, Sonji.

At first Clay's lawyer had told Sonji's attorneys he had two checks for part of the money Clay owes—$22,500 in fees and $2,500 for two months' alimony.

One of the checks was written on Islam Temple 2 in Chicago.

But one of Sonji's lawyers turned the offer down because "Cassius already bounced one on her for $1,250."

Two deputy sheriffs were already on the road with an arrest warrant when Clay's lawyer worked out a compromise with the judge and Sonji's layyers.

The compromise gives Clay until 5:30 p.m. Thursday to pay $26,250—$22,500 for her lawyers, $1,000 for the expense of two hearings that Clay did not show up, $2,500 to cover the first two months alimony and $250 for Sonji's expenses in getting to the hearing.

Clay's lawyer said Clay would get the money.

Lefty Takes Lead In ABC All-Events

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A tall blond teen-ager from Williamsport, Pa., made his debut in the American Bowling Congress Tournament with a first place in regular all-events play.

"I don't believe it," 19-year-old John Wilcox said Tuesday, as he reflected on his nine-game total of 2,004.

The 6-foot, 163-pound lefthander started Monday with a 673 series in the team event. He came back Tuesday with 613 in the doubles and 718 in the singles.

His all-events total, which averaged more than 222 per game, included 63 strikes.

Bob Menendez of St. Louis, who had held the regular all-events lead for a week with 1,961, dropped to second place.

Wilcox nearly knocked off the singles lead too, but left the 3 and the 10 pins standing on a crucial pitch in the final frame of the singles.

His 250-219-249 singles effort was good for third place, however.

Ernie Koche of Chicago continues to dominate that division with 728.

Wilcox's total is the third highest all-events score rolled by a southpaw in ABC history. Fred Foremsky of El Paso, Tex., set the record for left-handers when he amased 2,024 in the classic division in 1964.

Tom Hathaway of Los Angeles took only 1,922 pins to win last year's all-events crown.

There were no threats to the leaders of the team division or the doubles.

Smith, sports columnist for the New York Herald-Tribune, had won the award four times previously. It was the first National NSSA award for Scully, who broadcasts for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

'278 Should Win It'

'A Lot Of Pros Can Win,' Claims Favored Nicklaus

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio golfer who will be trying for an unprecedented second straight Masters victory, scoffs at claims he has the golfing plum all wrapped up.

"That's a lot of baloney," Nicklaus said before a final tune-up for Thursday's start of the 72-hole grind over the Augusta National course.

"A lot of golfers can win this thing," the 26-year-old Golden Bear said. "A couple of bad breaks can ruin you. Most of the time this tournament is lost, not won.

"The player who doesn't make any mistakes is the player who wins."

He predicted a score of 278 would be good enough to take the title.

That is seven strokes above the record set last year by Nicklaus, who fired rounds of 67-71-64-69 in one of golf's most dazzling exhibitions.

Nicklaus conceded the hilly, 6,980-yard course is long enough to eliminate some of the 104-man field.

He doesn't think, however, that Doug Sanders, hottest player on the 1966 tour with three 1965 triumphs, is out of the running because he isn't a long driver.

"Doug hits the ball as far as Gary Player and Player's record speaks for itself," said Nicklaus. "If you look in the records you'll find most of the winners of the Masters weren't long hitters."

Nicklaus singled out Arnold Palmer and Player — the other members of the Big Three who have won every Masters crown since 1960 — as his leading rivals. As an afterthought, he tossed in the names of Sanders and Bruce Devlin, the lanky Australian who collected $67,000 on the tour last year without winning a tournament.

Player, the 1961 titlist, said he is "hitting the ball reasonably well although I haven't scored real good."

Palmer, who won the Masters in 1958, 1960, 1962 and 1964, has been working on his approches and putting.

"My short game is as bad as it has been for quite a while," he said.

Little chance is given an outsider to crack the Big Three's domination of the Masters, but Ken Venturi said it would come as no surprise to him if a dark horse won.

Stanford Coach Will Head U.S. Baseball Group

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — William P. Fehring, baseball coach at Stanford University, will succeed Everett D. Barnes, director of athletics at Colgate University, as president of the United States Baseball Federation.

Fehring, chairman of the Olympic Games Baseball Committee, is to complete Barnes' term, which runs until January 1969. Barnes has been president of the federation since it was formed in 1963. The federation is regarded as the national governing body of amateur baseball in the United States.

Colgate said Tuesday Barnes was resigning because of the press of other duties.

Barnes is president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, a member of the board of directors of the U.S. Olympic Committee, and chairman of the latter's transportation committee for the 1968 Olympics.

Indian Finishes 22-Mile Swim

MADRAS, India (AP)—Hihir Sen landed today at Dhanushkodi after successfully swimming the Palk Strait from Ceylon to India in 25 hours and 44 minutes.

He entered the sea at Talaimanner, Ceylon. Sen battled against high tides and winds and he finished the grueling swim in a fatigued condition.

Sen was the first Indian to accomplish this feat. The actual width of the Palk Straits is 22 miles.

The Palk Straits had previously been swum by two Ceylonese, in 1954 and in 1963.

It is a stormy sea infested with sharks and other sea creatures.

The Indian Navy provided Sen with French - made chemical repellants to keep away the sharks and other creatures.

76ers Seek To Even Set With Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, accustomed to the role of underdog after waging a successful season - long fight with Boston, attempt to upset the favored Celtics and square the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division finals tonight at the Boston Garden.

"We're used to the position of underdog and are going to respond the way we did during the regular season," promised Philadelphia Coach Dolph Schayes.

"You might say we were an underdog for our first 70 games," the NBA Coach-of-the-Year added. "Then we finally moved in front, winning the next 10 and the division championship."

The Celtics, whose nine-year reign as Eastern champions was ended by the margin of one game, were installed a slight favorite in the second game on the basis of a convincing 115-96 victory at Philadelphia in the best-of-seven series opener Sunday, and the traditional home court advantage.

Oddmakers Listing Dodgers 2½-1 To Win

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are back in uniform, and the Los Angeles Dodgers are 2½-1 favorites to win the National League pennant.

Las Vegas oddsmakers listed the odds Tuesday as: Dodgers 2½-1, San Francisco 3-1, Cincinnati 5-1, Pittsburgh 6-1, Atlanta 8-1, St. Louis 15-1, Chicago 50-1, and Houston and New York 100-1.

St. Louis Given NHL Franchise

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidney Salomon Jr. and his son, Sidney III, head the syndicate that was awarded the St. Louis franchise in the National Hockey League's expansion.

A unanimous vote Monday by the league's board of governors chose their group over a rival syndicate, headed by Carl Berst.

Five other cities — Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Minneapolis-St. Paul, San Francisco-Oakland and Los Angeles — were given franchises two months ago, and a sixth was reserved for St. Louis.

The new six will begin play in 1967, doubling the number of NHL teams. Montreal, Toronto, Chicago, Detroit, New York and Boston have made up the league since 1942.

Salomon and Son hold the largest block of stock among the Blues' nine owners. The syndicate will pay $2 million for the franchise and the rights to 20 players they will draft from the six existing clubs. And when the group got the franchise, it put into effect its purchase of the St. Louis Arena for $4 million.

Braves Can Win NL, Bragan Says

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Bragan, manager of the Atlanta Braves, had just been asked to run down his team.

"Well," he said, "we've got nine guys who can hit 20 homers. We've got five starting pitchers. The bullpen is solid. And the bench is good."

Is Bragan confident?

"Yep," he replied. "If we can get Koufax and Drysdale to go back into the movies, and take a couple of pitchers like Marichal and Maloney with then."

And that's the way it is with the Braves. They feel they have the talent to win the pennant, and they certainly feel moving to Atlanta will help. But, in the National League, nothing is ever certain and Bragan wouldn't mind a littie help.

Most of it will come from his players with the Braves ready to field veterans at all positions. As a matter of fact it may be difficult for a rookie to break in anywhere.

First there are those nine 20-homer hitters — outfielder Hank Aaron, catcher Joe Torre, third baseman Eddie Mathews, outfielder Felipe Alou, outfielder Mack Jones and catcher-first baseman Gene Oliver, all of whom hit 20 or more last season.

Bragan then adds in first baseman Lee Thomas, acquired from the Boston Red Sox after hitting .271 with 22 homers and 75 runs batted in, and outfielder Rico Carty and shortstop Denis Menke, who hit the 20-homer mark in 1964.

The only non-qualifier is second baseman Frank Bolling.

Two of the 20-homer hitters — Carty and Oliver — figure to start the season on the bench unless Bragan decides to platoon. Add veteran Frank Thomas and there's little doubt why Bragan smiles about his bench.

Pitching could be the only question-mark with the make-or-break pitcher likely to be Denny Lemaster, a 17-game winner in 1964 who slipped to 7-13 last season.

Lemaster or Hank Fischer, 8-9 last year, figures as the No. 4 starter behind 24-game winner Tony Cloninger, Ken Johnson and Wade Blasingame. Veteran Arnold Earley, also acquired from Boston, will add strength to the Billy O'Dell-Phil Niekro bullpen combine.

Despite Lemaster's fall last year, the Braves were in the middle of the pennant fight until mid-September — only 2½ games out — when they finally slipped and fell back, finishing fifth, 11 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers.

But one major factor has to be considered this year besides the wealth of talent The Browns did not fight. They switched.

The attitude on the club seems to have changed with the move from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

"We certainly would have had a better chance of winning last year if we had played somewhere else," Bragan said. "You don't relish the idea of playing before 5,000 or 6,000 people at home."

The courts willing, the Braves won't have to.

It could make the difference.

Florida Firm Buys TV Station At Borton

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Storer Broadcasting Co., which numbers Ohio stations WJW-TV and radio, Cleveland, and WSPD-TV and radio, Toledo, among its outlets, announced purchase Tuesday of WIHS-TV, a UHF station at Boston, Mass.

George B. Storer, president, said his firm paid $2,874,500 to the Boston Catholic Television Center Inc., in a transaction subject to FCC approval.

New Coat Of Arms

DUFFTOWN, Scotland (AP) — This ancient Highland town is getting a new coat of arms — featuring a whisky distillery.

Sir Thomas Innes of Learney, the Lord Lyon of Scotland whose function it is to look after coats of arms and other heraldic business, suggested the new coat of arms at the request of the Dufftown city fathers. Dufftown is a distilling center.

Truitt Named Floor Coach At Kent State

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University today announced appointment of Frank Truitt, basketball coach at Louisiana State University, as head basketball coach at Kent State effective at once.

Truitt, 41, is a former freshman basketball coach at Ohio State University. He just completed his first year of a four-year contract at Louisiana State as head cage mentor.

At Kent, Truitt will succeed Coach Bob Doll whose contract was not renewed after five years with the Golden Flashes.

Kent State President Robert I. White, who made the announcement, said Truitt had obtained his release from the Louisiana State contract only Tuesday. At the southern school, he had entered a rebuilding year and ended up with a 6-20 record.

The Kent State selection committee said Truitt had been hired because it felt "he combined college coaching experience with a fine record as a recruiter."

While serving at Ohio State for seven years as assistant to Coach Fred Taylor, Truitt had a big hand in recruiting much of the talent.

Prior to his service at Ohio State, Truitt had coached Ohio high school basketball at Columbus North, Mount Gilead and Bloomingburg. While Columbus North coach in 1958 at the state tournament, his team broke Middletown High School's 76-game win streak but later lost the championship game in a double overtime to Cleveland East Tech.

An Otterbein graduate, Truitt starred in basketball and golf, and still is considered among the state's better amateur golfers.

Truitt is married and has three daughters of ages 9-12. He will take up his new duties at Kent State Thursday. Kent State, a member of the Mid-American Conference, had a 3-9 conference record last season, and an 8-16 overall record.

Portrait painter Rembrandt Peale is credited with founding the gas industry in America, in 1816, with a company that provided gas lights for a few Baltimore streets.

Inmates To Dig

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — Twenty - eight inmates of the U.S. Penitentiary here have formed a chapter of the Kansas Anthropological Association — a group concerned with digging for relics of the past. None of the new group has disclosed any plans for digging.

Suit Delays Purchase Of School Buses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Finance Director Richard L. Krabach expressed hope for an early decision from a Franklin County Common Pleas Court in a suit he said is holding up the purchase of 800 new school buses.

There has been no indication from the court when a decision can be expected.

The injunction suit challenging state centralized purchase of buses was submitted to the court March 14. It was filed by bus manufacturers and the Ohio Automobile Dealers Association.

"The State Department of Education cannot do anything until this suit is settled," Krabach explained. He added he was not answering a statement by State Sen. Danny D. Johnson D-New Philadelphia, that Gov. James A. Rhodes "directly enter into the stalemate of bus purchasing for local school districts."

But Krabach said no bus purchases under a $5.3 million appropriation by the legislature for the current two-year bookkeeping period have been made since July 1. Calling the situation serious, he said "there is a six-month lead period necessary before actual delivery . . . we should be ordering buses now for next fall delivery."

Johnson Hit On New Dairy Price Proposal

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Tony T. Dechant, new president of the National Farmers Union, attacked President Johnson's latest dairy price support proposals Tuesday as inadequate.

The proposals would raise the supports by 26 cents per hundredweight, which Dechant said would leave the price to farmers at 29 cents below current prices.

Dechant said dairy farmers were not making a decent living out of their work, and were either going broke or getting into other lines, such as beef cattle production.

"The result is a shorter supply of milk, which means higher prices to consumers," he said.

Indonesia is the leading Far Eastern source of petroleum and ranks second to Malaysia in rubber and tin.

'Subsidizing Segregation'

School Head Raps U.S. At Civil Rights Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP) — The federal government is "in effect subsidizing segregation," by supporting only low - rent public housing in Cleveland, the U.S. Civil Rights Commission was told Tuesday night.

Paul W. Briggs, Cleveland superintendent of public schools, told the commission that racial segregation in the city's schools is created by concentrating poor Negroes in the inner city. He urged immediate reconsideration of all federal housing programs planned for Cleveland.

Briggs' testimony came on the heels of a 31-page public schools report presented to the six-member commission during its third day of public hearings. The report was prepared by commission staff members, which has been gathering information for the hearing since November.

The hearings continue today. "Most children in the Cleveland public school system attend schools which are either predominantly white or predominantly Negro," the report said. "The school building program in Cleveland has not helped to relieve the racial imbalance in the schools, but rather has perpetuated this imbalance."

The report said that since 1955, the city has built 22 elementary schools, three junior high schools and two senior high schools and the student bodies of "virtually all of these schools were either predominantly Negro or white."

Briggs said that federal funds are being used for low - rent housing in the city and for "a ring of middle-class and luxury apartments around, but mostly outside the city." This "perpetuates poverty," he said.

He told the commission that Cleveland should start a "large-scale demonstration in community planning and rebuilding."

If Clevelanders live in poverty, tax support will be even less than it is now, Briggs said. Of the city's 5,900 teachers and school administrators, 2,259 are Negro, he said.

Briggs said he hopes the city will build a school in downtown Cleveland near Cleveland State University. He said it could become "a center for experimentation, demonstration and teacher training," which students from all areas of Cleveland and the suburbs could attend.

Sukarno's Fortune Put At $60 Million

HONG KONG (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno has piled up a personal fortune of more than $60 million in Swiss and Japanese banks, according to sources in Hong Kong with Indonesian and international banking contacts.

Although the reports are impossible to confirm here, some responsible Western experts believe them.

Much of the money was directly deposited to Sukarno's foreign bank accounts by persons buying business favors from him, sources said.

Man Faces Hearing In Pigeon Shooting

A city man is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Friday at 9 a. m. on a charge of unlawful use of an air gun. He was shooting pigeons.

Ronald Eugene Agnew of 273 Pennsylvania Ave. was cited March 5 on Wallace Ave. He told the arresting officer that he had heard many complaints relative to pigeons and "decided to do something about it."

Study Program To Begin June 13 At New School

A part - time study program at the Ohio Valley Technological College will begin here June 13, Dr. David K. Taylor, director, has announced.

Six evening classes will be open to part - time students, with the times arranged for the convenience of the students, Dr. Taylor said.

There was no announcement of the location.

The courses and credits offered are:

Orientation in Applied Mathematics and Computers (1 hour credit); Basic Mathematics (5 hours); Orientation in Electronics (1 hour); D. C. Circuits and Magnetism (7 hours); A. C. Circuits (7 hours); Orientation on Physics (1 hour) and Orientation in Spectroscopy (1 hour).

Each course is a beginning course, but successful completion will enable a student to enroll in more advanced courses in the fall quarter, Dr. Taylor said.

The orientation courses are introductory courses designed to allow a student to survey a particular field and acquaint him with the duties of a technician in that field.

Basic Mathematics is a detailed study beginning with ordinary numbers and leading to elementary algebraic equations. Emphasis will be placed on understanding and skill in calculation.

In D. C. Circuits and Magnetism, the fundamental laws of steady - state electricity and magnetism are developed from basic laboratory observations. A. C. Circuits is a theoretical and practical study of alternating and transient circuits, covering such topics as house current, capacitors, inductors, transformers and meters.

Each of the latter courses included four hours of lecture and three hours of laboratory work each week.

Students interested in enrolling may write P. O. Box 394, Dr. Taylor said.

Honorary Life Memberships Distributed At K. Of C. Event

Honorary life membership cards were distributed by James McGowan, chancelor, during the meeting of Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night at the K. of C. home. William E. McCormack, grand knight, presided.

Recipients included Fred Sautel, 47 years, Charles Harry Purton, 52, and James E. Nagle of Cleveland, 64, with Charles McBride Jr., a nephew, accepting the card on his behalf.

Cards also were read for Frank R. O'Hanlon, who has 56 years of membership and is a patient at City Hospital.

A card for 56 years of membership was presented to Joseph A. Sutton for his brother, the late Otto E. Sutton.

McGowan read a letter from D. F. Sullivan of New Haven, Conn., supreme secretary, who extended his best wishes and congratulations. He also read a letter from the grand knight, recognizing the honored grand knights for their years of service to the council.

Fr. William Lawler of St. Aloysius Church and chaplain of the council reviewed the 65 years of the council in East Liverpool and its service to the church and community.

McGowan related the history of the K. of C. in the United States and the success of the program sponsored by the Knights.

A social gathering followed in the club rooms.

Members of the K. of C. and the Holy Name Society will conduct an all-night vigil before the Repository Thursday night at St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

Any Day Now

LINDSBORG, Kan. (AP) — Malburn Swanson has installed an elevator to the basement of his one-story home here. It's for convenience, he said; cuts out climbing up stairs, and then, he said he never knows when he might want to move the family piano in or out of the basement.

Flood Strikes In Canada; 2,800 Flee

EMERSON, Man. (AP) — About 2,800 persons were leaving their homes in three southern Manitoba towns today as flood waters rolled north in the Red River Valley.

Full-scale evacuation was ordered for Morris, St. Jean Baptiste and Emerson.

Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin ordered dikes in all towns and municipalities along the river raised in anticipation of flood crests higher than predicted.

He said unusually slow melting of snow and river ice will result in a delayed crest simultaneous with the runoff from some tributaries.

"It now appears the peak at Winnipeg may possibly go a little higher than our predicted 29 feet — to something in the order of 29½ to 30 feet," he said.

Flood control authorities decided to clear out Emerson, Morris and St. Jean Baptiste rather than risk leaving the populace behind emergency dikes that may be holding back eight feet of water within a week.

Cold weather helped to slow the runoff as the Red's crests moved out of Minnesota toward Canadian cities.

Temperatures overnight slipped below freezing in northern Minnesota and North Dakota, further checking the runoff resulting from the spring thaw of heavy winter snow.

The sprawling floods claimed more farmland after making a big lake out of rich land along the Minnesota-North Dakota border. The U.S. Corps of Engineers announced preliminary damage estimates of $9 million in North Dakota and $5 million in Minnesota.

The American Red Cross estimates that about 500 persons were evacuated from North Dakota and Minnesota communities. The figure did not include farm families, some of whom went to stay with relatives and friends.

The job of shoring up dikes and manning the dike patrol continues at many communities on the U.S. side of the border.

Slippery Roads Cause Several Auto Mishaps

A 1966 auto owned by a Hillcrest man was damaged when it struck guard rails along Route 45 north of Wellsville this morning in one of several mishaps early today.

Dane Dysert of Wellsville apparently escaped injury in the mishap, which heavily damaged his car.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said there were several skidding mishaps reported this morning when area highways became slippery with ice and snow.

Officers said there were no reports of any injuries. The post officer said investigating patrolmen had not completed reports.

A Delayed Find

TURON, Kan. (AP) — Roy Webber was installing a sewer line in 1955 when he lost his billfold. In early 1966, Joe Pennel was cleaning the sewer and found the billfold. Webber's identification cards were still intact so Pennel looked him up and returned his wallet.

Cool, Light Snow Cover Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

Cool air, with light snow and flurries in some areas, covered most of the eastern half of the nation today. The Weather Bureau said not much change in the unseasonably chilly spring weather was indicated for the next several days.

Much of the cool weather was attributed to a large low pressure system northeast of the Great Lakes, fanning the cold air southward to the Atlantic and Gulf regions.

Snow flurries continued across the Midwest to the Appalachians. Snow amounts have been light in most areas, ranging from a trace to one inch, with most melting during the day.

In the West, the weather pattern was sunny, mild days and clear cool nights, except for cloudiness and fog along the immediate Pacific Coast.

Below - normal temperatures were forecast until next Monday — including Easter Sunday — in most of the nation, with above normal marks in much of the Southwest. Precipitation was expected to be generally light except for heavy amounts in parts of the Southeast.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 25 at Dickinson, N.D., to 69 at Key West, Fla.

Power Company Continuing Its Tree Plantings

CANTON, Ohio — Keeping Ohio green, productive and utilitarian, a pledge made by the Ohio Power Co. many years ago, is being kept for the 22nd consecutive spring.

Men and machines are scurrying over the strip mine areas of Morgan, Muskingum, Noble and Guernsey counties, planting tiny seedlings which eventually will grow into fine timber in a giant land reclamation project.

Planting of this year's 1,120,000 seedlings began in mid-March and is scheduled for completion by the end of April.

Upon completion of this year's portion of the continuing project, the company will have placed 21,800,000 seedlings on 21,800 acres of forest land in the four above - mentioned counties and in Perry County. The program is under the direction of Rod Krause, Ohio Power's reclamation supervisor at McConnelsville.

Krause said 1,018,000 seedlings are being planted this year on 1,018 acres of mined banks and 102,000 seedlings are being placed in unmined fields. The bank planting requires manual operations, using long - handled, spear - like planting bars. Planting machines and tractors are being utilized in the fields.

Canada To Sell More Wheat To Red China

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada will sell Red China at least 56 million more bushels of wheat over the next three years under an expanded agreement by the Canadian Wheat Board.

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp told the House of Commons Tuesday last night of the amendment to the agreement signed last year.

The new maximum level is 280 million bushels and the minimum has been raised to 168 million.

Pennsylvania Acts On Fund

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania has sent to Washington an interim plan applying for $20 million in Appalachia funds that designates 19 counties as "primary growth areas," but leaves the door ajar for other areas to qualify for the program.

(Beaver is one of the 19 counties.)

John K. Tabor, secretary of commerce, said the designation of some regions as primary potential growth areas was done to comply with federal requirements.

Tabor added, however, all 52 counties that make up Pennsylvania Appalachia will have an opportunity to apply for funds for educational and health facilities and communites of 5,000 or more which meet certain requirements will be able to seek all-purpose funds.

Tabor noted that the proposal will be succeeded by a more definite plan at the start of next year. There were no details of projected program allocations.

Appeals Court Cases Listed

There were 236 cases disposed of by the 7th District Court of Appeals during 1965.

The figures are contained in the annual report on the court's activities as prepared by William Radcliff, administrative assistant to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The report also showed:

1.—That 97, or 41 per cent, of the cases were disposed of by written opinions;

2.—That 13 of the written opinions were published in the bound volumes of the Ohio Appellate Reports;

3.—Of the 236 cases tried, 62 motions to certify were filed with the Supreme Court (in substance, an attempt to have the Supreme Court consider the rulings of the appeals court);

4.—Of the 62 motions to certify, 11 were granted (indicating either that the court agreed with the ruling of the appeals body or that the question presented was not of sufficient public interest to warrant a decision by the Supreme Court).

5.—Of the 11 cases heard by the Supreme Court involving the appeals court, one decision was reversed.

Members of the 7th Appeals Court, located in the Mahoning County Courthouse at Youngstown, are Nils P. Johnson of Youngstown, presiding judge, George M. Jones of Trumbull County and John J. Lynch of Youngstown.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A girl friend of mine who is 19 plans to be married this spring. Last week she and her fiance went shopping for furniture. They bought a bedroom set with twin beds — but only after a bitter argument.

I asked her why she insisted on twin beds when her fiance made it plain he wanted a double bed. She said, "I have slept alone for 19 years and I just can't sleep with anyone."

Will you please tell me what is wrong with a girl who wouldn't try a double bed to please her fiance? — INTERESTED THIRD PARTY.

Dear Party: What difference would it make to you if they slept on an ironing board? When it comes to beds, Dearie, three really is a crowd.

If this girl wrote to me I'd tell her about twin beds with a single headboard, but since she hasn't asked for my advice, I'm keeping my nose out of it. I think it would be wise if you did the same.

'To Err Is Human'

Dear Ann: A man I have been going with has a habit that embarrasses me to death.

When we dine out and the waiter brings the check this gentleman makes a big production of changing his glasses, getting out his pen and adding up the bill. If he finds a mistake he points it out to the waiter with the air of a man who has just foiled a bank robbery.

Is it worth the few dollars he saves? (He has yet to find a mistake which gives the restaurant more and himself less.) What is your opinion? Frankly, I find it uncouth. — TOO CRITICAL?

Dear Too: Machines make mistakes and so do people. There is nothing uncouth about adding up a bill before you pay it. If you don't check your bills before you pay them, you aren't very bright.

It's not good manners, however, to make a big flap when a mistake is discovered. You could ask him to soft peddle the large act.

Beyond Duty

Dear Ann: I'm secretary to the sweetest, kindest boss who ever lived. His wife is a neurotic nag who drives both the boss and me crazy with her countless telephone calls.

Yesterday she phoned to tell him the egg man didn't show up, the vacuum sweeper broke down, his mother wrote an unfriendly letter and she lost a filling from her tooth.

This morning she asked me to call him out of a conference to tell him that the garbage man didn't collect the trash and her bridge club is coming and what should she do.

I think the biggest favor I could do my boss would be to drop his wife a line and explain nicely that her frequent interruptions are a nuisance and to please call him only when it is urgent.

Will you back me up? — FED EDNA.

Dear Edna: No. It is not your place to tell the boss' wife anything. When he gets fed up with her calls he'll let her know. Until then (which may be never) keep your lip zipped.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

2 Virginia Men Killed In Fiery Crash Of Plane

PRINCETON, W. Va. (AP) — A flaming plane wreck here has claimed the lives of two Virginia men who authorities believe were en route from Covington, Va., to Pikeville, Ky.

State police identified the victims from the logbook and driver's licenses found in the plane. Dead are Laymond E. Weikle, the pilot, of Covington, Va., and David S. Blount, of Fincastle, Va.

Relatives were expected to arrive today to make positive identification.

The four - passenger Cessna sky hawk, a single-engine plane, circled the area for about 30 minutes Tuesday night before hitting a tree and going down 20 feet from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Parker.

Col. Chiaramonte said graduates from the class will be given immediate assignments at patrol posts throughout the state.

Opera Singer Renounces Her American Citizenship

PARIS (AP) — Opera singer Maria Callas has renounced her American citizenship in an attempt to end her marital and financial difficulties with her Italian husband, reliable sources disclosed today.

Miss Callas was not available for comment. The sources said she renounced her citizenship in the American Embassy in Paris March 18. The embassy would make no comment on the case.

Miss Callas was seen in the embassy passport section by a newsman March 18. When he asked the purpose of her visit, embassy officials said it was a routine passport matter.

Miss Callas, who was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., in 1923 as Sophie C. Kalos, maintains a Paris residence on the swank Avenue Foch. Her birth in New York gave her American citizenship, but because both her parents were Greek she also has Greek nationality.

The sources said Miss Callas told the embassy orally that she was giving up American citizenship because this would end her marital and financial complications with Milan industrialist Giovan Battista Meneghini, who launched her on her career.

Miss Callas and Meneghini separated legally in 1959, following the start of her much-publicized attachment to Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis. Since then they have been involved in a continual legal battle over money.

Miss Callas reportedly told the embassy that as an American citizen, she is still married to Meneghini under U.S. law but as a Greek national her marriage is not recognized in Greece because she was not married in the Greek Orthodox Church.

The Callas-Meneghini marriage went on the rocks after a Mediterranean cruise they took with Onassis on his palatial yacht.

The tempestuous soprano came home amid a flurry of press reports of a romance between her and the shipping tycoon. They insisted they were only friends but Meneghini, now 68, filed suit for legal separation, blaming his wife for wrecking their 10-year marriage.

Two months later, in November 1959, Meneghini agreed to ask for the separation "by mutual consent" and without fixing blame. The separation was granted on that basis.

Miss Callas and Onassis have been frequent companions in the years since her marriage broke up. Onassis obtained a divorce in 1960, and his wife married the British Marquess of Blandford, heir to the Duke of Marlborough and a cousin of Sir Winston Churchill.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Clarion man is in Allegheny County jail today, awaiting action on a kidnaping charge filed against him by the FBI.

Bobbs returned to the Pittsburgh area and was arrested.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Contestants from Florida, California, Mississippi and North Carolina were picked Tuesday night as Outstanding Young Farmers of America for 1965-66.

Cited by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and LP-Gas Association for their work in agriculture were C. W. Bailey, 34, Ocala, Fla.; David A. Blalock Jr., 34, Linden, N. C.; J. C. Holland, 35, Plantersville, Miss., and John Kautz, 35, Lobi, Calif.

The top four were selected from among 40 finalists—each a state outstanding young farmer—from an original field of 12,000.

Ohio's representative among the finalists was Roger Martig of Beloit, Mahoning County. The order in which the finalists were rated was not disclosed beyond the naming of the four winners.

All were credited with building successful farming operations while providing community leadership.

Finalists were judged by a panel of agricultural experts.

Chain Of Letters

Akron Girl Has Network To Viet

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Carolyn Shircliff, 17, wrote to a Marine in Viet Nam and started a chain of letters that is wideening into a correspondence network linking Akron and Asia.

Since March 24, the high school senior has averaged 45 letters a day, mostly from South Viet Nam. Saturday she got only 13.

"Very slow day," she explained. "But the mailman was quite pleased. He thinks it's just about over.

"It isn't."

In fact, it may be just starting.

Carolyn got her first name from the Marine recruiting office here. It was Sgt. Edwin E. Sackettt, a former Marine recruiter here now in Viet Nam.

Along with Sgt. Sackett's reply to Carolyn's letter came seven more, from men in his outfit who also had read the letter.

"That's when it really started," Carolyn said. "The next letter I got had 25 names on it — all wanting individual replies."

Carolyn started passing out names to friends at St. Vincent High School because "it's hard to write good letters to more than two or three at a time."

But she ran out of names before she exhausted her supply of writers.

"Then I went back to the recruiter and he suggested I put an article in Pacific Stars and Stripes, the serviceman's paper.

"Well I did that . . .

"Wow! One day I got 161. That's a lot of reading."

Through Saturday, Carolyn had 340 letters from Viet Nam. "And the thing is it's not just one name to a letter," she said.

"A whole tent full of men over there will get together and decide who has the best handwriting. Then he writes the letter and they all sign it.

"I also get some letters from commanding officers who think their men could use some mail from home.

"So they write me and send a list of everyone in the platoon."

She has distributed names to students at several other schools and last week was listed by the Akron Beacon Journal as a source of names of servicemen correspondents in Viet Nam.

"Now I also get about 20 letters a day from people in Akron wanting names," she said. "Although I still have a lot of names now I am worried about running out."

WVU Will Send 13 On Field Trip Study

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) —The state board of public works has approved a request by West Virginia University to send 13 persons on a field trip to Cleveland to study social adjustment problems of West Virginians who have migrated there.

John Photiadis, an associate professor at WVU, said Tuesday the trip was suggested by county extension agents in West Virginia who were concerned over the ex-mountaineers' possible inability to adjust to city life.

Boston Printers And Mailers OK Pact; End Strike

BOSTON (AP) — The two unions that forced five Boston newspapers to suspend publication a month ago have voted to accept $16.30 in wage increases over a three-year contract and to end their strike.

The printers voted 746-340 Tuesday and the mailers 158-31 to ratify the agreement negotiated with the publishers.

The vote paves the way for an early resumption of publication but Bostonians will have to wait a little while longer for their newspapers.

Nine other newspaper craft unions whose members were idled by the printers' and mailers' strike, must now meet to decide whether to accept the same offer, made informally to them by the publishers' representative, Eugene P. Barnes.

Complicating the picture is the fact that five of the unions earlier in the year had accepted an agreement for a two-year contract and an increase that provided no cash, but gains in health-welfare and pension benefits.

The printers and mailers accepted an offer which will give them a $4.10 boost retroactively for the year 1965; $4.20 weekly from Jan. 1, 1966; a $2 weekly increase on the resumption of publication; and raises of $3 each on Jan. 1, 1967 and July 1, 1967.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Interesting Letters For Children

Just the other day a letter came from Mrs. Cecil Garrison of Pennsylvania. "Dear Dr. Myers: Most of our grandchildren are so far away that we must be grateful if we get to spend one or two weeks a year with them. In order to help them remember us, and feel close to us, I began, Dr. Garry Myers several years ago, to spend some time writing letters to them. Tought you might be interested in seeing a typical one. This is not an exact copy, but all ideas are used from time to time according to seasons and daily happenings. "I wondered if the idea might be helpful to other lonely grandparents who long to keep grandchildren in distant places from forgetting them.

"OLD MAIL catalogs, seeds and nursery catalogs, farms magazines, crayons, and a child's picture dictionary from the variety store were used in making these letters. The latter makes excellent tracing material, with a wide variety of subjects to choose from. The star designs were copied from an old book about stars.

"No lecturing or moralizing in the letter. It begins:

"Dear Bob and Tom:

"Thank you for your nice (pictured letter instead of words). We think you write well, and you told so many interesting things. We are glad to hear you like school this year. Do you enjoy seeing the bright (stars pictured) at night? Do you know that, although you and we are many miles apart, still we could all look up and see the same (star pictured) at the same time? We don't seem so far apart when we think of it like that, do we?"

Then Mrs. Garrison writes a pictured story of the Great Bear and adds a graphic outline of the Big Dipper. Next she wonders if they have had "enough ice to go skating and enough snow to go sledding," with a picture of a skate and a sled cut from a catalogue pasted near.

HER LETTER made me recall two books in my library: Theodore Roosevelt's "Letters to His Children" (Scribner's) and "Letters to Children" by Eva G. Connor. (MacMillan) I reread both of them.

In his letters Theodore Roosevelt wrote of the kinds of human items most children would enjoy. Many of the letters he illustrated with his own crude drawings — of dogs that climb trees; of the pony that plays tricks ("He bucked Ethel over his head the other day"); of a pillow fight with Archie and Quentin; of the little birds in the grapevine, with picture of the mother bird feeding her babies; of feeding grass through the fence to a young elk at the zoo; of almost stepping on a baby deer in the park; of seeing on the road while out riding, a real B'rer Terrapin and a B'rer Rabbit, and a picture letter about Ethel trying to disciplne her younger brothers.

In the other book are letters to children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews by famous people of the past; Martin Luther, William Penn, Thomas Jefferson, Jane Austen, James Fenimore Cooper, Benjamin Franklin, Abigail Adams, Dolly Madison, Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Carlyle, John Keats, Victor Hugo, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Charles Dickens, and many others.

JANE AUSTEN wrote to her niece, three, spelling all the words backwards. Thomas Jefferson wrote to a grandson, 16, telling him of Benjamin Franklin who never contradicted anybody. James Fenimore Cooper wrote to little Miss Doolittle advising her to write as if she were talking to a close friend. Dickens wrote to his daughter, Mary, eight, telling her how well she wrote and spelled.

Only a few of these letters by famous people have the charm and simplicity of the letter by Mrs. Garrison or, no doubt, by other grandparents of today.

My bulletin "Enjoying Our Children" may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Significant Results In Year

Congress Gets Assurance Of Auto Safety Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The auto industry has told Congress it has "gotten the message" about auto safety and, if given a chance, will develop a voluntary, cooperative safety program geared to producing significant results within a year.

But John S. Bugas, testifying for the nation's largest industry at a Senate commerce hearing Tuesday, appealed to Congress to let the industry show what it could do before government standards are imposed.

Bugas, vice president of Ford Motor Co. and chairman of the Safety Administration Committee of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, voiced support for most of President Johnson's highway safety program and added that "if we haven't gotten the message of safety before, we've got it now —believe me."

The car makers have been under increasing fire from critics who contend that not enough stress had been put on safety in designing automobiles.

Part of the highway safety bill would give the secretary of commerce discretionary authority to establish motor vehicle safety standards after two years. It was to that provision Bugas objected.

He argued against vesting in one man "the very vital, complicated responsibility for setting standards that affect the design, engineering and construction of our automobiles."

Also essential, Bugas said, to a cooperative industry program was relaxation of the antitrust laws to permit manufacturers to exchange information and share developments relating to the safety of cars.

"We want to be sure that once a company has developed a significant safety item, it can pass this on to others," he said.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., quizzed George Russell, a General Motors executive who attended the hearing with Bugas, about GM's request that owners of 1964-65 Chevelles and 1965 Chevrolets with Powerglide transmissions return the cars to their dealers for adjustment.

Russell said the company announced last week in Detroit it would install splash guards over the throttle linkage to prevent possible sticking of the accelerator. The free service is being provided because five cases of sticking accelerators were reported.

This is "another example of how we are interested in doing all we can for safety," he said.

Bugas said that all the motor companies have a policy of acting quickly to correct any defect they discover that might even remotely endanger life or limb.

At another point, Bugas outlined the auto maker's own program for safety.

Under it, a Motor Vehicle Safety Board would be responsible for "establishment, adoption and progressive strengthening of safety performance standards on an industrywide basis," he said.

The board would be composed of the presidents of the four auto companies and a chairman from outside the industry who would be nominated by the industry, subject to approval by the secretary of commerce.

Billboards Face Destruction For Highway Beautification

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About one-third of Cleveland's billboards and virtually all of Mount Vernon's might have to be destroyed because of the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965, the Ohio Outdoor Advertising Association estimates.

There were two of the cities covered in an association study presented Tuesday at the opening session of a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads hearing on proposed federal controls over billboards and junkyards. The hearings end today.

Kenneth Rector, a sales executive of Foster and Kleiser Outdoor Advertising of Cleveland, made the association's presentation, and several other industry spokesmen took the witness stand. Their theme, in brief, was that the act threatens to "eliminate outdoor advertising as a major medium in advertising," as one witness said.

Other cities' prospective billboard tolls, said Rector, are: Cincinnati, about half; Columbus half; Toledo, 40 per cent; Mansfield, 75 per cent; Mount Gilead, all.

After public hearings in all states, the Department of Commerce will decide whether to alter the Bureau of Public Roads proposed regulations. Beginning in 1968, states that don't comply with regulations could lose 10 per cent of their federal highway money.

The federal regulations will apply on all interstate and federal - aid primary highways. Ohio has 1,500 and 8,000 miles of these, respectively.

Billboards, Rector said, comprise only about 5 per cent of the nation's outdoor advertising. On - premises business signs, which would be exempted under the federal act, are greater in number and the major cause of roadside eyesore spots, he argues.

Over 700 of his company's 2,100 billboards in Cleveland would have to be destroyed under the proposed standards, said Jay Williams, Foster and Kleiser vice president. In Cincinnati, 370 of 810 would come down, he estimated. And in Toledo, the company would lose 242 of 625.

Foster and Kleiser is the biggest outdoor advertiser in Ohio but does not operate in all cities.

Rector said billboard regulations should be left to state and city governments.

More than 8 million cars and 33 million visitors crossed the borders of the state of Salzburg in Austria in 1965.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—What is a good compound to use for stripping old wallpaper off the walls?

A.—Brush on the paper a solution of paste consisting of one cup of flour to every three gallons of water. This paste prevents the moisture from evaporating too quickly, so that you'll have more time for peeling and scraping off the old paper.

Q.—How can I add crisp shine to my straw hats?

A.—Try using some hair spray.

Q.—How can I remove surface discolorations from my bathtub?

A.—Use a mixture of baking powder and peroxide, making a paste of these two ingredients and applying it to the discolored areas. After this has dried, wash it away, and the original luster should be restored. Incidentally, this treatment is also very good for brightening up the finish on your refrigerator.

Q.—When applying new enamel paint over an already enameled surface, how can I prevent it from running?

A.—Try adding a little cornstarch to your enamel.

Employment Up 500,000 Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment surged upward by more than 500,000 in March while the number of jobless showed little change, the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced.

While the jobless rate figured out to 3.8 per cent of the labor force compared with 3.7 in February, officials said this could be attributed to variations that occur in any sampling, rather than an actual change in unemployment.

In the first quarter of 1966, the rate averaged 3.8 per cent, and officials called this a sharp improvement over the 4.2 per cent in the last quarter of 1965.

The reason employment can rise sharply while joblessness remains steady is that the "labor force" fluctuates.

This is defined as persons working or looking for work, and it has increased as housewives and others are attracted toward jobs in the booming economy.

The March increase of 520,000 in non-farm employment brought the total to 61.7 million. The jump exceeded seasonal expectations by 300,000 and was the largest for this period since 1950. Overall the seasonally adjusted total was at an all-time high.

The weekly and hourly earnings of factory workers edged up to record levels. But officials pointed out that overtime work did not increase markedly. To them this was a sign that management succeeded in hiring large numbers of workers despite talk of labor shortages in some areas and some skills.

2 Ohioans Given Air Force Medal

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Two Ohioans were among eight Air Force ROTC cadets receiving the Air Force Association's Silver Medal at ceremonies here Tuesday night.

Herman E. Fresh Jr. of Ohio State University was presented a N. S. Meyer-Raeburn scholarship award.

Another Ohioan, Judy Franz of Miami University, Athens, was one of four finalists selected by the cadets to be named the society's "Little General." Gail Rich of the University of Utah won the honor and was to be crowned at a military ball tonight.

Western Union's Rates Due Boost In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP)—Western Union has been authorized to begin charging higher rates Friday for telegrams and other messages sent within the state.

The Public Utility Commission said Tuesday it has approved a 3 per cent increase for telegrams, money order messages, day and night letters and related services.

Regular collect telegram rates the PUC added, will be raised 10 cents, telegraph money order charges will go up approximately 10 per cent and telex messages will go from 75 cents to a dollar.

The company estimated the rate increase would produce $43,000 a year in added revenue.

Hints from Heloise

— by Heloise Cruse —

Dear Ladies: I found an easy way to put on and remove those little, thin plastic gloves that have to be worn when I apply a tint or rinse to my hair:

I hold the glove open at the wrist, fill it with water, then put my hand inside the water-filled glove. It goes on slick as can be.

Then I hold my hand up and let the water drain out at the wrist.

When I'm ready to remove the gloves, I fill them with water again, and they slip right off.

WHAT PRICE BEAUTY

DEAR HELOISE: To provide a storage place for straight or safety pins, I cut a hole in the plastic lid of a small container.

Every time I find a pin lying around, I can just drop it through the hole in the lid, and don't have to remove the cover of the container at all.

When we need pins, we always know where they are.

P. A.

DEAR HELOISE: When you go to the grocery store, do you ever eye the jars and cans of the yummy - looking tidbits, party snacks, etc., and wish you could try out a few — but feel they'd strain the budget?

Every week when I do my shopping, I buy just one can or jar of something I'd like to have on hand for special occasions, and it's practically painless to the budget.

When I'm putting away the groceries — all the dull, everyday things like beans, macaroni, etc. — it gives me a little lift to see that one extra-special item.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep my kitchen counter top free of ugly stains, I keep an old spray-top bottle handy with bleach - water solution, and when I have finished the dishes, I give the counter a few squirts of fine mist.

I let it set a few minutes, rinse it, and presto, all the ugly coffee, tea, fruit, etc., stains are gone.

HAZEL BOOTH.

DEAR HELOISE: When you are really in a pickle . . . your husband isn't home to sharpen your paring knife, and it won't cut a tomato skin, grab one of your emery boards, and sharpen the knife with it.

It works beautifully.

By the way, just how does a woman get her husband to sharpen her knives?

MARY ELLEN.

The only way I know of is to ask him to slice the tomatoes!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To have a cup handy for measuring detergent when going to the laundromat I fasten a small size curtain hook on the top edge of the detergent box, and hooked my cup onto it.

MARY ANN DEAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I always had trouble with my postage stamps in my desk, so one day after we had a full course frozen dinner, my husband suggested that I use one of those trays for my stamps.

I now have a place for my one-cent, five-cent and eight-cent stamps, and for my name stickers.

2 Are Missing, 9 Injured When Bridge Collapses

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—"I heard a crack, like timbers breaking . . . The men slid off as if they were on a sliding board . . . It was a miracle that more men weren't lost."

So spoke an observer who watched helplessly while a scaffold on a new bridge across the Delaware River collapsed Tuesday tossing 11 workmen 45 feet into the water and onto fresh concrete inside a huge anchorage block. Two were missing and nine injured, one seriously.

"The thing happened so suddenly the guys were in the water before we could do anything," said Orie W. Avison Jr. of Havre De Grace, Md., who was standing nearby when the scaffold collapsed.

Authorities were searching for the missing men, Paul Artis, 41, of Wilmington, a foreman on the job, and Edward Clark Jr., 37, of Bridgeton, N.J.

Joe Brown, 49, of Wilmington, who suffered a fractured pelvis and internal injuries was in serious condition at a hospital. Two others, Ezekial Osborne, 29, and Thomas Luster, 32, both of Wilmington, were admitted to hospitals for observation. Six others were treated at hospitals and released.

Justifiable Homicide Ruled In Gun Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Allegheny County coroner has issued a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of a Pittsburgh woman accused of shooting a 21-year-old man as he entered her apartment March 16.

Coroner William R. Hunt issued the verdict Tuesday after Mrs. Ruby Williams, 33, admitted shooting Howard Jackson. She said she did it in self defense.

Mrs. Williams said at the inquest that she and Jackson had been seeing each other.

2 Brothers Sentenced In Wounding Police

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—Terms of 1-10 years in the state reformatory were imposed Tuesday on Ohio brothers Gary and David Kirk in the gunfight wounding of two Richmond, Ind., policemen last Dec. 4.

Gary, 27, of Columbus, and David, 21, of South Charleston, were sentenced on two charges of assault and battery during commission of a felony.

Store Project Builder Sued

A foreclosure action has been filed against a Youngstown concern which has been in the process of building a supermarket for the Kroger Co. at Minerva and Walnut Sts. for two years.

The Potters Savings & Loan Co. filed the action against the Walnut Realty Co. claiming $347,303 is owed on two promissory notes — one for $315,000 issued in 1963 and another for $48,000 issued in January.

Mortgages on the property, the former VFW post home site, were given the Potters concern by Robert Shutrump, president of the realty firm, and William Shutrump, secretary.

The petition in Common Pleas Court lists the following companies and individuals with some interest in the property and describes them as defendants for the marshaling of liens:

The Kroger Co.; Atty. Joseph Schaivone, who represents a coin laundry which had a lease in the former VFW building; Beloit Concrete Block Co.; Parsons Coal Co. of East Liverpool; Eddie Moore of East Liverpool, a workman, and V. C. Judge, county treasurer.

Mr. K Retarded Steel Industry, Red Party Told

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev retarded growth in the Soviet steel industry, backbone of the country's military might, the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party was told today.

Ivan P. Kazanets, Soviet minister of iron and steel industry, said steel industry growth was lower than it could have been because Khrushchev put too much stress on rapid growth of the Soviet chemical industry.

Khrushchev was not mentioned by name in the portions reported by Soviet news media from the closed congress. But Kazanets clearly referred to Khrushchev when he said:

"The achievements of the iron and steel industry could be greater were it not for the lowering of the rate of increase of iron and steel due to wrong, subjectivistic counterposing of the chemical industry to the iron and steel industry."

Khrushchev, who stressed chemicals, was criticized for subjectivism when he was ousted from power in October 1964.

Kazanets followed the lead of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Tuesday. Kosygin blamed Khrushchev for some of the failures to meet 1959-65 plan targets.

The congress session today discussed Kosygin's report.

State Auditor Reports Court Fund Shortage

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The state auditor's office reported Tuesday an alleged shortage of $5,890 in funds for Butler County Area One Court. The audit report covers the period from March 26, 1963 to April 30, 1965.

County commissioners have fired the clerk, Mrs. Helen S. Miller, for alleged discrepancies in handling of court funds.

UAW Local Favors Strike If Talks Fail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of Local 969, United Auto Workers Union, at odds with General Motors Ternstedt Division over automation Tuesday voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of a strike if negotiations over the issue are not concluded to its satisfaction.

The 4,400 - member union charges installation of new equipment for making auto seat springs may eliminate 400 jobs at the plant.

The union has scheduled a meeting with management Thursday morning to discuss the problem. Union officials said five days of negotiations must precede any walkout.

Overweight Needs Medical Help

"It seems that all I want to do is eat and the more I eat the more upset I get about my size. I am 37, 5' 5" tall, weigh 204 pounds and wear size 24½ dress.

Ida Jean Kain

"I've tried dieting but I can't seem to lose. I don't know what's wrong but if I don't manage to start losing weight pretty soon I think I'll have a nervous breakdown. For the past six weeks I have tried to cut down on eating and have been a nervous wreck. Then when I stepped on the scales I found I had gained eight pounds! Help, Help, Help! As Protection Against Police

Armed Physician Holds 4 Children Inside House

ROARING SPRING, Pa. (AP) — The curious, the concerned and the patient rimmed a farmhouse in Blair County today as an armed physician remained cloistered inside with his four children.

Only an occasional friend of Dr. Patrick M. Boccagno, 34, was permitted inside a buffer zone maintained at a 100-yard radius from the house by state police.

Boccagno sealed off his home Monday when a constable tried to serve a surety of the peace warrant. Police who later arrived at the home said the physician threatened to shoot any officer who tried to enter.

The doctor was quoted by police as saying he was holding the children as protection against any action police might take.

Police said they did not plan to rush the home for fear of endangering the children. They set up headquarters in a barn near the house and waited.

A friend who declined to be identified visited the home for several hours in the two days, but reported only that the children were playing contendedly in the home, oblivious to what was going on.

Late Tuesday, Boccagno's lawyer, Harry C. Benton of Hollidaysburg entered the home, but he gave no report of any conversation inside.

State police gave one of Boccagno's friends a portable two-way radio to carry inside so the physician could talk to his wife, Elizabeth, 28, who was outside with police. Boccagno refused to use the device.

Police said Mrs. Boccagno filed the warrant against her husband after a domestic quarrel.

Curiosity seekers drove by the country road passing within 100 yards of the home. Police kept the cars moving.

At Boccagno's request, police moved a cluster of newsmen from their vantage point near the house to the road. A man who was allowed to enter the house and later emerged said Boccagno was becoming upset over radio accounts of his vigil.

A hired hand carried out the farm chores in the barn and a nearby shed during the day. Boccagno rents the house. The landlord raises cattle on the farm.

The children inside are three girls and a boy, ranging in age from 19 months to five years.

The library of The Mariners Museum in Newport News, Va., contains some 45,000 books and pamphlets, 6,000 maps and charts and 100,000 photographs.

Bow Fails In 2 Attempt To Cut Funds Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, failed in two attempts Tuesday to cut from a $1,169,723,000 Interior Department appropriation bill.

Bow, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, introduced two amendments that were defeated before the House approved the appropriation by voice vote pending formal roll call today.

A voice vote downed Bow's amendment seeking to cut $7,293,000 from 41 unidentified projects in the bill. The Ohioan told the House the total involved exceeded the President's budget estimates.

A standing vote of 86-26 squelched the other Bow amendment, which would have limited spending of Interior Department and related agency funds during the fiscal year starting July 1 to 95 per cent of the President's budget.

The bill emerged $34,791,000 below what President Johnson asked but $30,336,430 above Interior Department appropriation for the present fiscal year.

Feighan Asks Delay In Induction Of 44

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D - Ohio, has asked the Selective Service System to delay until Monday the scheduled Good Friday induction of 44 men at Cleveland, his constituency.

Feighan said he had several complaints from parents who "cannot understand why the Army cannot wait until Monday, permitting these young men to spend Good Friday and Easter Sunday with their family."

'Red Letter Week' For Roosevelt

Shipbuilder To Provide New Chance For Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sitting in his 12th floor, modernistic office, the man with a strong jaw faintly reminiscent of a more famous profile gazes out over the panorama of Washington.

Then he turns and muses aloud to a visiting newsman. "This has been a red letter week," he says.

The man is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 51, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

And why is it a red letter week for him? Because, he says, a big breakthrough has been scored which could set a pattern for industry in the South, as well as elsewhere.

He referred to an agreement, announced Monday, whereby the nation's largest shipbuilder, the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding & Drydock Co., signed up to provide broad new promotion opportunities for Negroes.

Forty-one Negroes had filed charges of job discrimination. So the result was a pact with the commission whereby an outside expert will look over the job patterns in the company. If it is found that Negroes get less pay than whites for the same work, they are to be raised immediately. Similarly in any case where it is found that promotions have been denied because of race.

Roosevelt said there have been 25 other conciliations of a major nature.

The commission Roosevelt heads was set up under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Its job is to combat employment discrimination account of race, sex, religion or national origin.

But its powers of coercion are limited. The accent is on conciliation, on voluntary compliance. Much of its work must be in secret, under heavy penalties for talking out loud unless both parties to a dispute agree. That, Roosevelt finds, is one of his headaches.

Another headache is shortage of manpower to handle a volume of complaints four times larger than expected. The commission began work last July and has received more than 5,000 complaints.

Particularly angry at the commission are Mexican-Americans of the Southwest who complain that the emphasis is on the Negro, that they are neglected. President Johnson has promised them more attention.

Sex has not given the commission as much trouble as expected. Sixteen per cent of the complaints involve sex.

While working at the commission job, Roosevelt is not immune to thoughts about New York politics. He says he may wait a couple months before deciding whether to run for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A newsman mentioned that James A. Farley, grand old man of Democratic strategy, is reported to have said the party is so disorganized in New York that it has little chance to beat Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Roosevelt said: "If I run, it will mean I am sure I can unify the party and win."

Defense, Secret Service Agree

Formal OK Given Plan For Protecting President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department and the Secret Service have agreed formally to stay in close touch "to insure the timely exchange of information" on possible dangers to the life of a president.

The agreement was signed last Dec. 14, about 15 months after publication of the Warren Commission report recommending such an action, among others, to prevent a recurrence of an assassination like that of President John F. Kennedy.

The pact came to light today when copies were bound into a batch of routine orders. The document still bore the stamp "For Official Use Only."

The Pentagon gave no explanation as to why the agreement had not been made public officially and said, "It still is for official eyes only."

As spelled out in the document, the purpose of the Defense Department-Secret Service agreement "is to provide procedure for and define the types of information to be furnished" by the Pentagon to the Secret Service so the Secret Service "may best fulfill its responsibilities to protect the person of the President of the United States.

The Warren Commission had found there was an information gap between the FBI and the Secret Service prior to the assassination of Kennedy. It criticized no other agency of government, but urged Secret Service agreements with each federal arm to insure receipt of vital information bearing on possible peril to the life of a president.

One of the categories of information which the Pentagon is now obligated to give the Secret Service involves "individuals who have threatened or attempted to redress, by other than legal means, a real or imaginary grievance against the federal government, including a less than honorable discharge."

Other categories include:

— Individuals or groups who have made threats of bodily harm or have advocated assassination of the President or other officials.

— Military and civilian personnel of the Defense Department discharged with or because of an abnormal mental condition which "is deemed to constitute a threat to the safety of others."

— Defectors from the U.S. armed forces "and other military personnel, including deserters, who have refused repatriation or whose acts reflect an attitude of hostility which might be directed toward the President."

— Present and former military and civilian personnel "who are believed to have collaborated with the enemy or to have committed treasonable acts."

— Persons who have been discharged from the armed forces or fired from civilian employment in the Defense Department on a security or suitability grounds.

Sentencing Slated Following Guilty Plea

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A presentence investigation, then sentencing, evidently will wrap up the case of Gene Autry Perdue, 27, of near Fairborn now that Common Pleas Judge Herman J. Weber has accepted Perdue's guilty plea to a reduced charge of first - degree manslaughter.

Perdue originally was charged with murder in the shooting of his wife, Patricia, 24, in their trailer home early New Year's Day.

Rail Firm May Halt Conneaut Operations

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad says that if Conneaut City Council implements Ohio's full-crew law the railroad may stop its $4 million coal shipping operations here.

A proposed ordinance calls for having firemen on all diesel locomotives passing through Conneaut. It was referred to committee for possible redrafting.

Barron Says He Wouldn't Oppose Smith In 1968

CHARLESTON (AP) — Former Gov. W. W. Barron says he "certainly would not" oppose Gov. Hulett Smith for the 1968 Democratic gubernatorial nomination. But on the other hand he says he would not rule himself out of the race if Smith is not a candidate.

Barron said Tuesday he would support Smith for re-election if the gubernatorial succession amendment is approved by the voters in November and Smith decides to run again.

"I'm in serious practice of law and at this time have given no consideration at all to running for governor in 1968," Barron added. He served as governor from 1961 to 1965.

Barron said he thought Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson is "seriously considering" running for the Democratic nomination for governor if Smith does not run.

Regulations Set For Glass Doors In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Labor and Industry Secretary William P. Young announced today the adoption by the State Industrial Board of new regulations for transparent glass doors installed in all commercial and public places.

The scope of the regulations was based on an 1965 act which called for "all transparent glass doors so marked in such a manner as to plainly and clearly indicate and show existence of such doors in either a closed or partly open position."

More than 100 safety inspectors from the department's Bureau of Inspection will enforce the provisions of the regulations developed from "the meaning and intent" of the new law, Young said.

The department will refer to transparent glass doors as those containing 80 per cent or more of transparent glass to the total area of the door.

Markings must be in the form of bars of metal, wood or plastic, or painted indications or decalcomania, and shall be readily observable at a distance of not less than 10 feet at approximately eye level.

Young said the industrial board's regulations extend to "any (public) establishment which installs or replaces glass in any openings which are subject to human impact, such as entrance ways, exit ways, storm doors, patio doors and shower enclosures, including side panels requiring the installation of safety glass which means a glass manufactured, fabricated or treated to contain the safety features of laminated, wired or tempered glass."

The regulations will become effective April 24, 30 days after they were adopted by the industrial board, Young said.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Fatal To Five More

By The Associated Press

A driver who apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his auto, a motorist whose car wrecked on a curve, and three Dayton persons are among Ohio's latest traffic victims.

The dead:

Terry Lee Dodds, 22, Rt. 1, West Jefferson, (Madison County)

Cecil Ray Carroll, 21, Lorain.

Paul Ray Fraley, 27, Dayton.

Fred Storm, 46, Dayton.

Anna Parman, 79, Dayton.

Dodds was killed early Wednesday when his car crashed after it ran off U.S. 40 near the Madison - Franklin county line in Madison county. The Ohio Highway Patrol said young Dodds apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his auto.

Carroll died Tuesday night in Massillon City Hospital shortly after an auto accident on U.S. 21 just north of Massillon. He told the patrol he was driving south when he hit a wet spot on a sweeping curve and lost control of the car, which rolled over three times.

Fraley's tractor-trailer rammed a tree after missing a curve on Ohio 73 near Rarden in Scioto County.

Storm was changing a flat tire on his auto on the Interstate 75 expressway in Dayton when the hubcap blew away, he ran into the middle of the road after it and a car knocked him 150 feet.

The elderly woman, who had been hit by an auto near her home, like Storm died in Miami Valley Hospital at Dayton.

2 Arrested In Truck Carrying 90-100 Dogs

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Police Tuesday arrested two occupants of a truck carrying between 90 and 100 dogs, which the driver said were to be used for "research laboratories."

The driver, Andy Ball, 36, of Conover, Ohio, and his assistant, Donald E. Chamberlain, 28, of De Graff, Ohio, told police they were en route to St. Paris, Ohio, where their employer, Paul Anthony, ships the dogs to Pennsylvania.

Ball and Chamberlain were arrested for failure to vaccinate a dog against rabies, possession of unlicensed dogs, and driving an unlettered livestock truck.

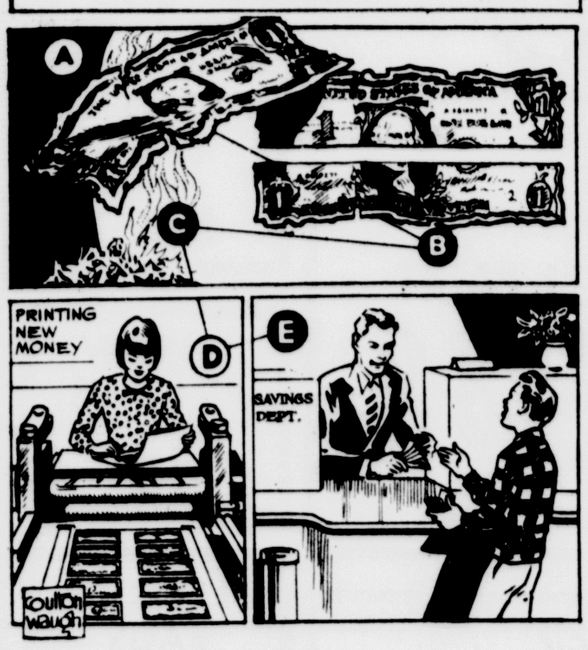
Junior Editors Quiz on MONEY



QUESTION: What happens to old money and how does new money come into use?

ANSWER: When badly-worn bills (A) show up at banks, they are withdrawn from circulation and sent to the nearest Federal Reserve Bank. This bank will then slice unusuable bills lengthwise (B) and send them (each half separately) to the Treasury Department in Washington. Here (C) the scraps are burned. New money is being constantly printed by the government (D) and is sent to the banks in exchange for the old bills they have turned in. The new money is then given out in the regular business of the bank (E) and so goes into circulation. In addition, extra new money is always being held in reserve, to be circulated as needed by the Federal Reserve System. As the population increases, more money is needed. The Federal Reserve System takes care of this, too, distributing new bills to the banks. Defaced coins are also withdrawn and sent to the United States Mint, where they are melted down. New coins are sent out to replace the old. A bright new coin from the Mint is said to be in "mint condition."

FOR YOU TO DO: Fortunately for coin collectors, enough old coins circulate around to make coin collecting a fascinating and profitable hobby. Watch your change for Lincoln pennies of 1914 with "D" under date, 1914 with "S" or "D", 1915, 1909 and 1931 with "S" under date. Check a coin catalogue for other valuable coins.
